Let the State Decide.
14 Billions! Cheap!
Socialism Defined.
Science Counts.

MR. BUCKNER, United States attorney in New York, who knows about prohibition, its enforcement being his impossible job, talks common sense to this effect:

Let each state decide for itself what drinks may be sold within its territory, how much alcohol they may contain.

To let the different states make their own experiments, in accordance with the will of the majority, might be sane. Each state is allowed to make its own laws for divorce, to regulate punishment for horse thieves and different ways of putting criminals to death. To let each state make its own prohibition law, subject to the eighteenth amendment forbidding intoxication, might be wisdom.

THE bureau of industrial technology says it costs the United States fourteen billions a year to buy automobiles and keep them running. That's more than the amount loaned to Europe during the war and it is also a better investment than the war loan. From Europe for our ten billions we get criticism, the accusation of meanness.

From the automobile for our fourteen billions we get national health, saving of time, much pleasure, millions of families united. At fourteen billions a year the automobile is a bargain.

If you haven't got yours yet, get it now, with the opening of spring.

TO USE public moneys for the comfort of the prosperous class is "sound conservatism." To use it for the unprosperous class, their wives and children, is socialism.

We spend thousands on a fine bridle path in a great park, supplying soft footing for the horses for the well-to-do, that's well.

But when the governor of New York

Learn The Secrets Of Creole Cooking

The Creole chef absorbed the secrets of culinary magic from old world kitchens, Indian campfires, and the cabin of the old-time mammy, and combined them with such success that the Creole cuisine soon became a distinctive school, famous not only for its savory dishes, but also for its remarkable economy.

It is now possible for you to delight your family and guests with the best of Creole cookery by following the many excellent and matchless recipes that appear in the new Creole recipe booklet this bureau has for free distribution. ONLY HIGH COURT OR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY CAN SAVE BLIND SLAYER

Harry W. Cowan Who Killed Sweetheart Faces Electric Chair as Jury Finds Him Guilty.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Only a reversal by a high court or executive clemency can save Harry W. Cowan, blind slayer of his sweetheart, Edith Burton, from the electric chair.

Unless Governor Smith acts favorably on the recommendation for clemency which the jury made in returning a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree" against Cowan late last night, a blind man will be executed for the first time in the history of New York state.

Judge Franklin Taylor will pronounce sentence Monday.

Cowan's face was chalky when the jury returned its verdict after nearly five hours' deliberation. He had asserted that he and the pretty stenographer had entered into a suicide pact and that Miss Burton shot herself on Dec. 28 last. Cowan lost the sight of one eye in the double shooting.

FULTZ DENIES FOGO CHARGES AS HE SEEKS REINSTATEMENT

Wellsville Officer Appeals to Civil Service Commission.

ANSWER FILED

Copies of Mayor's Allegations in Hands of Members.

Denying all allegations of misconduct in office and neglect of duty, John H. Fultz, Wellsville's deposed chief of police, today was awaiting action of the civil service commission that will set in motion charges filed against him by Mayor Wallace L. Fogo.

Asserting that "if there has been any laxity" in law enforcement since January 1, 1926, "it has been due to your failure to cooperate as chief executive and your effort to cause dissension in the police department."

Fultz yesterday filed his answer to Mayor Fogo's charges and appealed to the civil service commission for a hearing.

Dwight McLean, chairman of the commission, at noon today announced that he had taken no action toward calling a meeting for the purpose of setting a trial date. This, according to law, must occur within 30 days of the certification of the defendant's appeal.

Fultz personally presented his appeal to Secretary Gratian V. Dugan, of the commission, late yesterday afternoon. According to Dugan, individual members of the commission have received copies of the charges upon which Mayor Fogo based the suspension of Fultz.

Reply to Mayor.

The former police head's reply to the mayor and his appeal to the commission, read as follows:

"Wallace L. Fogo, Mayor, Wellsville, Ohio.

"Honorable and Dear Sir:

"In answer to your letter of March 19th, 1926, and papers submitted in connection therewith:

"Special English Lenten services will be conducted in the St. John's Lutheran church, Jackson and West Third streets, at 7:45 o'clock tonight. Dr. J. G. Bernhart, pastor, will speak on 'The Merits of Christ's Precious Blood.' Special music will be rendered by the junior choir.

A large class is being organized to receive the holy rites of Confirmation at services on Palm Sunday evening. The public is invited to attend.

Community Prayer Meeting Thursday In Seckman Home

Community prayer meeting will be held in the home of Bodie Seckman, Dixonville, at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Mrs. Carl Coburn will be the leader.

Insane Farmer Digs Grave, But Suicide Plan Fails

Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter Prevents John Mosher, 48, Guilford, From Slashing His Throat With Pocket Knife.

Mentally unbalanced, as the result of worry, John Mosher, 48, farmer of Guilford, went to the Mt. Zion cemetery, near the county home, yesterday afternoon, dug his own grave along side that of a deceased daughter's, but was prevented from slashing his throat with a pocketknife by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and friends.

Presumably with the intention of killing himself, Mosher, whose actions had been queer in recent weeks, dug a seven-foot hole in the burial plot near the resting place of a girl who died a year ago.

He then went to Galen Bowman's home, near the cemetery, telephoned to members of his family of his suicide plan and instructed them to send an undertaker to take charge of his body. He later returned to the cemetery and jumped into the grave.

The sheriff's office in Lisbon was immediately notified, and Deputy Kindsvatter and Constable Clarence Wetzel hurried to the cemetery. When the officers arrived Mosher was seated on a shovel at the bottom of the pit.

He was taken to Lisbon, where he spent the night in jail. A lunacy commission, consisting of Dr. J. H. Johnson and Dr. Seward Harris, appointed by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, examined the prisoner this morning and he was declared insane. He will be committed to the Massillon hospital.

PHILADELPHIA CHIROPRACTOR FOUND GUILTY OF SECOND DEGREE MURDER

David L. Marshall Faces 10 to 20 Years in Penitentiary for Killing and Dismembering Girl.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—David L. Marshall, chiropractor on trial for the murder and dismemberment of Anna May Dietrich, 35, was today found guilty by a jury of second degree murder. The jury gave their verdict to the judge at 10:45 this morning.

The penalty for second degree murder is 10 to 20 years, but it may be extended to life imprisonment at the discretion of the judge.

The case went to the jury at 9:05 last night. At 11:05 last night a verdict had not been reached and the jury was locked up until this morning when they again deliberated.

$28,314.09 COLLECTED IN AUTO LICENSE FEES BY DEPUTY HILBERT

Commissioner's Office Issues 3,823 Sets of Plates—City's Share of Fund is $12,000.

Collections from automobile license plates distributed in East Liverpool up to the close of business on Monday evening amounted to $28,314.09, according to figures made public today by Deputy Automobile Commissioner James S. Hilbert of the George H. Owen & Company agency.

A grand total of 3,823 sets of plates have been issued. Of this number 3,272 were for pleasure cars, 473 for trucks, 66 for pleasure commercial machines, six for trailers, four for two door side cars. In addition to this there have been 110 transfers issued, 72 licenses for outside counties, 14 duplicate tags and one duplicate transfer.

Collections on licenses for pleasure cars brought in $14,086, while $12,108.19 was received from the truck owners. Sources of other revenue were: Pleasure-commercial machines, $750.40; trailers, $53.60; motorcycles, $10; side cars, $3; foreign county plates, $57.40; transfers, $210.50; duplicate tags, $14; duplicate transfers, $1.

All license fees are turned over to the county auditor who distributes the fund among the state, county and municipalities. Of the money so far collected East Liverpool will receive approximately $12,000, all of which will be used for street maintenance.

No Flood Stage Expected Here as Ice Gorges Break

The breaking of Allegheny river ice gorges will cause no flood stage in the Ohio river here, employees at dam No. 3 said today.

The ice, which had choked the Allegheny in the vicinity of Oil City, Brandon and Franklin, was dislodged at 5:40 o'clock last night and is expected to reach Pittsburgh this afternoon. The floods should pass East Liverpool tomorrow morning.

Warmer weather and thermite, which was used in breaking the gorge, will melt most of the ice before it reaches here, dam employees believe. The stage at dam No. 3 at noon was 19 feet.

Round dancing at Danceland, tonight, advised.

Abraham Wernick, defense counsel, made the customary plea for four days for filing an appeal and it was granted.

Repudiated Confession.

The conviction is for the murder, Jan. 19, of Miss Dietrich, of Norwood, in one of Marshall's offices where he practiced chiropractic. Marshall signed a confession that he choked the pretty milliner to death. In court he repudiated this story and said she accidentally took poison.

He did admit that he dismembered her body and hid the pieces. Marshall appeared to have a premonition of conviction. He was extremely nervous when called into court today, rubbing his chin, drumming the table and talking earnestly with his counsel.

The case has been on trial for 14 days and had brought out medical testimony from high standing experts who flatly contradicted each other's views.

CLEVELAND DISCOUNT PRESIDENT SENTENCED TO SERVE SEVEN YEARS

Financier, Convicted in Federal Court After Six Trials Following Collapse of Company, Must Pay Fines Aggregating $7,000 as Well as go to Atlanta Cell.

U. S. JUDGE JOHN M. KILLITTS OVERRULES MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Convicted January 30 on 14 Counts of Using Mails to Defraud, Prisoner Hears Fate After Understanding Between Counsel That no Appeal Will be Taken.

CLEVELAND, March 24.—Josiah V. Kirby, convicted former head of the Cleveland Discount company, was sentenced to serve seven and one-half years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., and to pay fines aggregating $7,000 by Judge John M. Killitts today in federal court.

Kirby was convicted January 30 on 14 counts of using the mails to defraud after four trials in the Cuyahoga county common pleas court and two in federal court.

The sentence was passed after Judge Killitts had overruled a motion for a new trial by Attorney Luther Day, counsel for Kirby, and with the understanding between Day and United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein that no further appeal would be taken.

Released on $35,000 Bond.

Kirby was later released on bonds aggregating $35,000. Of this amount $25,000 was posted to secure Kirby's liberty until June 14, when he is to face trial on two indictments charging him with approaching prospective jurors in his trials. Kirby was arraigned on these charges just before sentence was passed on him. He pleaded not guilty to both indictments and gave $10,000 bond to assure his presence on June 14, the date set by Judge Killitts to try the cases.

Judge Killitts' opinion overruling Day's motion for a new trial comprised 53 closely typed pages in which he commented at great length on the case.

Kirby was fined $500 on each of the 14 counts and sentenced to two years and a half on each, the first three sentences to run concurrently.

Bernstein Gets Credit.

United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein was given chief credit today for the conviction of Kirby, whose liberty was finally forfeited to the government after six tempestuous trials, the first one of which took place in California. Kirby was acquitted there of charges of violating the California blue sky law.

Kirby's difficulties with the law grew out of operation of the $30,000,000 Cleveland Discount company, founded by him in 1923. Following his California acquittal, he was

SCIENCE CLAIMS COMPLETE VICTORY OVER ALLEGHENY RIVER ICE GORGES

After being jammed with ice, frozen to the river bottom, all winter, the stream between here and Franklin was clear today, the Brandon gorge having moved out late last night. Hundreds of thousands of dollars damage was left in the wake of the flood in Oil City and Franklin and it will be weeks before all traces of the high water are erased. But both municipalities were jubilant over science's victory.

Bonuses Awarded Four Freedom Oil Truck Drivers Here

Four motor vehicle drivers, employed by the Freedom Oil Works company at its East Liverpool plant, who reported no accidents during 1925, have been rewarded with bonuses and medals.

They are: Oral H. Wingett, Henry M. Foster, W. A. Horger and Pearl H. Shreeve. The cash bonus of $20 is furnished by the company, while the safe drivers' medal is furnished through the courtesy of the Ocean Accident and Guarantee corporation, of Pittsburgh. It contains the name of the holder and the year in which it was presented.

The movement to reward employees who figure in no accidents during the year was first launched in 1922 in a safety first drive. Only 25 men were honored then. Approximately 100 employees were winner of the reward during 1925.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Willis J. Harker, who died one year ago.

Death called him and he passed away. Life took its flight, his form was clay. No earthly power, alas, could save. 'Tis God that takes, 'twas Him who gave.

He called him from this world of pain. From losses to eternal gain. He called him at the close of even. To wait in peace, to dwell in Heaven.

But here his loss we deeply mourn. On sorrow's wing our hopes are borne. The future with its prospect bright. Is closed to us with shades of night.

Sleep on, dear one, we love thee still. Tho' sorrow doth our bosoms fill. We feel so lonely since thou art gone. We cannot help but weep and mourn.

COLLEGE POSTS TO BE FILLED

Three Instructors at Bethany College Plan
to Retire.

According to an official statement from President Cloyd Goodnight of Bethany college there will be only a few changes in the faculty next year. Vista Clayton, assistant professor of English; Erna Lohmann, assistant professor of modern languages, and Freda Kautz, instructor in clothing and textiles, have resigned. No announcement has been made as yet as to their successors.

It is probable that there will be a slight change in the department arrangement with the new instructors. The modern language department will probably be divided into a department of Romance languages, which will be headed by Professor P. M. Mahaffey, now head of the modern language department, and a department of Germanic Language and Literature. The head of the Germanic department has not been chosen as yet. The work in the English department will be divided. Professor A. R. Bourne will continue her work in English Literature and drama, but the work in American Literature will be given over to another professor who will also have charge of freshman composition.

GOVERNOR GORE ORDERS SURVEY

A survey of all departments of the state government, going into the pay of employees, the methods of handling special funds and any balances to be returned to the treasury from appropriations was instituted yesterday. Gov. Gore in letters to each of the department heads asked for a report on these subjects and announced that on these reports he would have recommendations to the legislature for measures of administration efficiency.

Capt. Porter, U.S. Secret Service World Figure, To Quit At 80

Given Job as Chicago
Chief as Reward for
Clever Detective Work
While Illinois Sheriff.

CHICAGO — When Captain Thomas Porter steps out as chief of the Chicago district of the United States Secret Service on June 1, ten days after he reaches the age of 80, the most picturesque figure in the service of recent years, if not of all time, will have left it.

Captain Porter—the title was given him by a reporter who insisted he must have some rank—was a country sheriff in Illinois forty years ago when some clever detective work on his part resulted in an invitation to join the Secret Service. Within a year he was given his present job as Chicago chief.

Nine chiefs have come and gone with never a thought of disturbing him in his position. Time and again he has announced his approaching retirement, but always when the date he himself has set rolls around he has forgotten it. Sixteen years ago subordinates bought him a big rocker "to rest in" after his intended retirement, but he has been too busy to put it to the use they intended.

Not a Thrill.
"What a thrilling life you must have led as a Secret Service man," some one said to him once.
"Not particularly," said the captain. "I joined up in the expectation it would be and I've been disappointed." Yet he possesses 16 notebooks, each containing the names of a hundred men, counterfeiters and bad-money passers he has been instrumental in convicting and many of whom he arrested himself. Incidentally he holds the record for the largest single haul of counterfeiters—$545,000.

"None of those I nabbed ever gave me a fight," he says regretfully. "You see, I never spoke a cross word to one of them and none ever spoke a cross word to me, so I never hurt anyone or got hurt myself."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, at bed time.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

HEALTH OFFICERS TO TOUR COUNTY

John H. Harrington and Daniel Evans, both of Charleston, are expected to visit Hancock county during the latter part of the week for the purpose of conducting a health survey. Conferences will be held with health officials in each of the towns they visit.

Minstrel Show Staged.
Final production of the minstrel show with a local cast was given last night in the Chester theatre. The performance was witnessed by a capacity house.

Member Drive Planned.
Large number of farmers from this district are expected to attend the meeting of the county farm bureau tomorrow afternoon in the court house at New Cumberland. Plans will probably be discussed for a membership drive.

Mid-Week Services.
Mid-week prayer services will be held tonight in the churches here with the respective pastors in charge.

Easter Musical Programs.
Special musical programs will be given in the local churches Easter Sunday in charge of the respective choir leaders. Rehearsals are now in progress.

Lenten Services.
Rev. F. C. Roberts, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, will conduct lenten services in the room adjoining the church tomorrow night. The church is being remodeled and will be re-opened Easter Sunday.

Rebeka's Meet.
Members of Rock Springs Rebekah lodge No. 161 met last night in the I. O. O. F. K. of P. hall, Fifth street and Carolina avenue. Following the business session a social time was enjoyed during which refreshments were served.

Fancywork Club Meeting.
Eastern Star Fancywork club will meet tomorrow evening in the Masonic temple, First street. Fancywork will be the chief diversion. Hostesses will be Mrs. Lydia Brown, Mrs. Julia McMath and Mrs. Ola Stewart.

Only once, so far as he remembers, did Captain Porter ever fire his big service revolver. That was when he accidentally pulled the trigger and the bullet, after puncturing him in the leg, lodged in the tender part of a scrubwoman's anatomy as she knelt at work nearby.

Doesn't Look the Part.
Perhaps the fact that Captain Porter does not look the part of a detective or man-catcher has helped him in his work. He delights in telling the story of one notorious counterfeiter he caught, a man who was regarded as dangerous and to be taken only at the pistol's point. Captain Porter walked into the fellow's room one night and engaged him in conversation. The counterfeiter was extremely respectful and agreeable. Finally, "I guess I'll have to put you under arrest, old fellow," said the captain.

"I'm Porter of the secret service."
The counterfeiter was too amazed to reach for his gun.
"What! You're Porter! You're a dick! Hell, I thought you were a parson."

Fellow-workers say that it's the veteran's ingenuity and refusal to be turned aside from the trail that made him such a success. The reader may judge somewhat from the following:
Spent Night in Trees.

In 1889 he spent virtually every night for a month—incidentally it was winter, too—perched in a tree in Lincoln park, Chicago, watching a suspect in a rooming house across the street with field glasses while he experimented with counterfeit dollars. When he went in for making and passing them Captain Porter nabbed him.

A short time after that he was gone for 18 months, working as a helper on a peddler's wagon with two brothers who were under suspicion. They traveled all over the middle west and while the captain was sure they were passing counterfeit banknotes it was a year before he got into their confidence at all and another month before he got the evidence that justified arresting them.

Another man he kept under surveillance 11 years, certain that he was responsible for bogus coins which frequently made their appearance in the underworld in large quantities. Then one day the captain sprang the trap on him that had been waiting all those years and caught him with the goods on.

Federal Judge's Pay

Opposition to raising the pay of the federal judiciary has arisen in the house rules committee. The proposed measure would raise the salary of the chief justice of the United States from $15,000 a year to $20,000; of the associate justices of the supreme court from $14,000 to $20,000; of district judges from $7,500 to $12,500 and of circuit judges from $8,500 to $15,000.

Some members of the house say they "don't see any reason why judges should be paid any more than congressmen." It is answered that the judges can hardly live decently on their present salaries, according to the standard expected of them; that it is beneath the dignity of the United States of America to be stingy with such distinguished officials; and that any man fit for such a position could make a great deal more in private practice.

Honor is supposed to be partial recompense in such positions. Nevertheless a judge must live, and may be sensitive about the manner of his living.

If federal judges are not paid any more than congressmen, one of these times Uncle Sam may find that he isn't getting any better judges than he is congressmen.

Tragedies Of Progress

"The dwellers in a region frequented by tourists," says the Literary Digest, "are often the last persons to understand why these gentry should come their way. It is more or less of a mystery to them. They thankfully receive whatever profits accrue, but they sometimes ignorantly do that which dries up the stream of wealth at its source."

"If they live on the seashore, they strew the beaches with garbage; if in the hills, they ruthlessly destroy the timber. Cutting down trees is, in fact, one of their pet performances."

The text of this sermon is the destruction of a lovely colonnade of trees along a road leading from Daytona, Fla., to New Smyrna. There was a wonderful forest arched roadway, made up of cathedral-like live oaks more than 100 years old, festooned with delicate Spanish moss and making a scene of beauty never forgotten by travelers passing through. All that has been cut down mercilessly in "improving the road."

More automobiles may pass along that route now, purely as a matter of transportation—to get from some place to some other place—but will any of them carry away any lovely memories of that road, and want to come that way again?

How many other localities are likewise destroying, in the name of progress and efficiency, that which constitutes their chief charm for visitors and possibly their chief source of wealth?

A Flowerless Spring

Spring brings wildflowers. Wildflowers bring beauty and joy. Unfortunately they also bring vandals. Into the woods and country meadows troop a host of children and a considerable number of adults. In some places, where the need and pleasure of conservation have been well taught, these hosts enter the woods only to behold the loveliness. They rejoice in every different bloom they see, in the springtime fragrance of moist earth and buds and flowers.

In other communities, less well taught, less thoughtful, the hosts come only for destruction. They tear branches from lovely trees and shrubs, they trample on new growing things, they pick basketsful of flowers which are later thrown away because they quickly wither.

It is hard to teach these marauders that there is more satisfaction to be had from enjoyment without destruction. And the saddest thing about this unlearned lesson is that the destructiveness soon results in diminished beauty, in flowerless woods. Imagine the sadness of a spring with no wildflowers!

Jail Before Gallows

Gerald Chapman, gentlemanly murderer and "master criminal," sentenced to be hanged April 6, seeks to delay justice again by another appeal to a federal judge in Connecticut. He demands a writ of habeas corpus, already refused him by the supreme court of the United States on another pretext.

Chapman's present contention is that he has also been sentenced to serve a term in Atlanta for mail robbery, and that he has a right to serve that term before he is hanged.

No prisoner need be blamed for grasping at a straw to prolong his life, even if he has made as poor use of that life as Chapman has. Yet the public is sickened by such brazen efforts, on the part of proved criminals, to make fools of the courts.

Whatever the law may say, common sense says that Chapman's contention is frivolous. The prosecution might reply that he should be hanged first and serve his prison sentence afterwards if he wants to.

Clemenceau was "Father Victory" and Briand tries to be "Father Peace." His success would make him equally great, for there can be no victory without peace.

After listening to a Chinese orchestra, you have a sort of suspicion where jazz really came from.

Mussolini says "Pan-Germanism" is menacing the world. Germany will reply that Mussolinism is menacing the world.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

To Lessen Crossing Accidents.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24.—A young man of Washington believes that he has solved the problem of street intersection accidents. At least he thinks that he has invented a device which if generally adopted will do away with much of the indecision displayed by drivers reaching a street intersection at the same time. It has been estimated that over half of the automobile accidents during the year 1925 occurred at street crossings.

J. W. Cooper says that several years ago he wondered why some one didn't invent something whereby a driver might indicate to one coming from a cross street just what his intentions were. Of course during the day it is possible to signal the other driver to go ahead by waving the hand. At night, however, this is not feasible. Who has not seen two motorists either rush ahead, each thinking the other will stop, and finally crash, or both stop and stage an Alphonse and Gaston?

Mr. Cooper eventually became discouraged with the idea that some one else would conceive some device to do away with this street crossing annoyance and danger, and decided to undertake it himself.

That was nearly three years ago and since that time he has given the matter more or less thought. This winter he decided seriously to work on the idea and the result is a signaling device which may be used on the front of the car.

The device consists of either a disc or cylinder which may be made of some nickel-plated metal. It is, of course, against the law to have any light show on the front of the car, other than the headlights. Therefore, the lights used on this signaling device must show only from the sides. There is a red light which burns constantly while the car is in normal motion. A car coming from the east or west, meeting one coming from the north or south, would of course stop when the driver saw the latter's red light burning. There could be no possible doubt in his mind as to what the other driver intended doing.

Misunderstanding Not Possible.

As soon as the driver applies his brakes and pushes out his clutch, the red light automatically goes off and a green one comes on. The driver coming from the other street then knows that he is safe in going ahead. Mr. Cooper says that the change is instantaneous with the slowing down of the car so that there could be no possible misunderstanding of the driver's intention.

Under the first patent taken out, this signaling device was operated mechanically. That is, there was a revolving cylinder which showed a red light while the car was running, and when slowing down this went out of sight and the green one came into view. Under the second patent it is operated electrically, the red light being automatically switched off when the green one comes on.

While Mr. Cooper's invention has not yet been placed on the market, he has been using a model on his car for several months and it has operated without a hitch. It has created considerable interest among automobile drivers of Washington, and has been termed an excellent idea by traffic experts.

As Abe Martin once said, "One good story brings on another," so apparently does one idea bring on another. In the first place Mr. Cooper has felt that the logical place for such a device as his would be on the radiator, which position on most cars is occupied by the motometer. The importance of a motometer is generally acknowledged, and therefore it is extremely unlikely that the public would even consider anything which would necessitate doing away with it.

That was a problem raised, the only solution of which appeared to be a combination of motometer and light signal. If any of the motometers now patented were used, it would necessitate the payment of royalties to the owners of the patents. In turn this would probably mean that the new device must sell at a higher price. Altogether the inventor was not inclined to include some one else's idea with his if it could possibly be avoided. The only thing to be done was to work out an entirely new one.

Made Visible at Night.

The motometers in use at present are not visible at night from the driver's seat, and Mr. Cooper was of the opinion that while he was designing one to meet his uses in connection with the signal system, it would be a good thing to make one that might be seen as clearly at night as in the day time.

Since he has not as yet taken out a patent in this new idea, it is not possible to give a definite description of how it will work. Suffice it to say that it will probably take the form of a triangular piece of red glass, placed in the center of the signal device. As the engine grows hotter and hotter the glass will become brighter and brighter.

There have been certain signal lights used to indicate to drivers behind whether a car is going ahead or going to stop, but a search through the files of the Patent Office has revealed nothing that has been used for signalling drivers at street intersections.

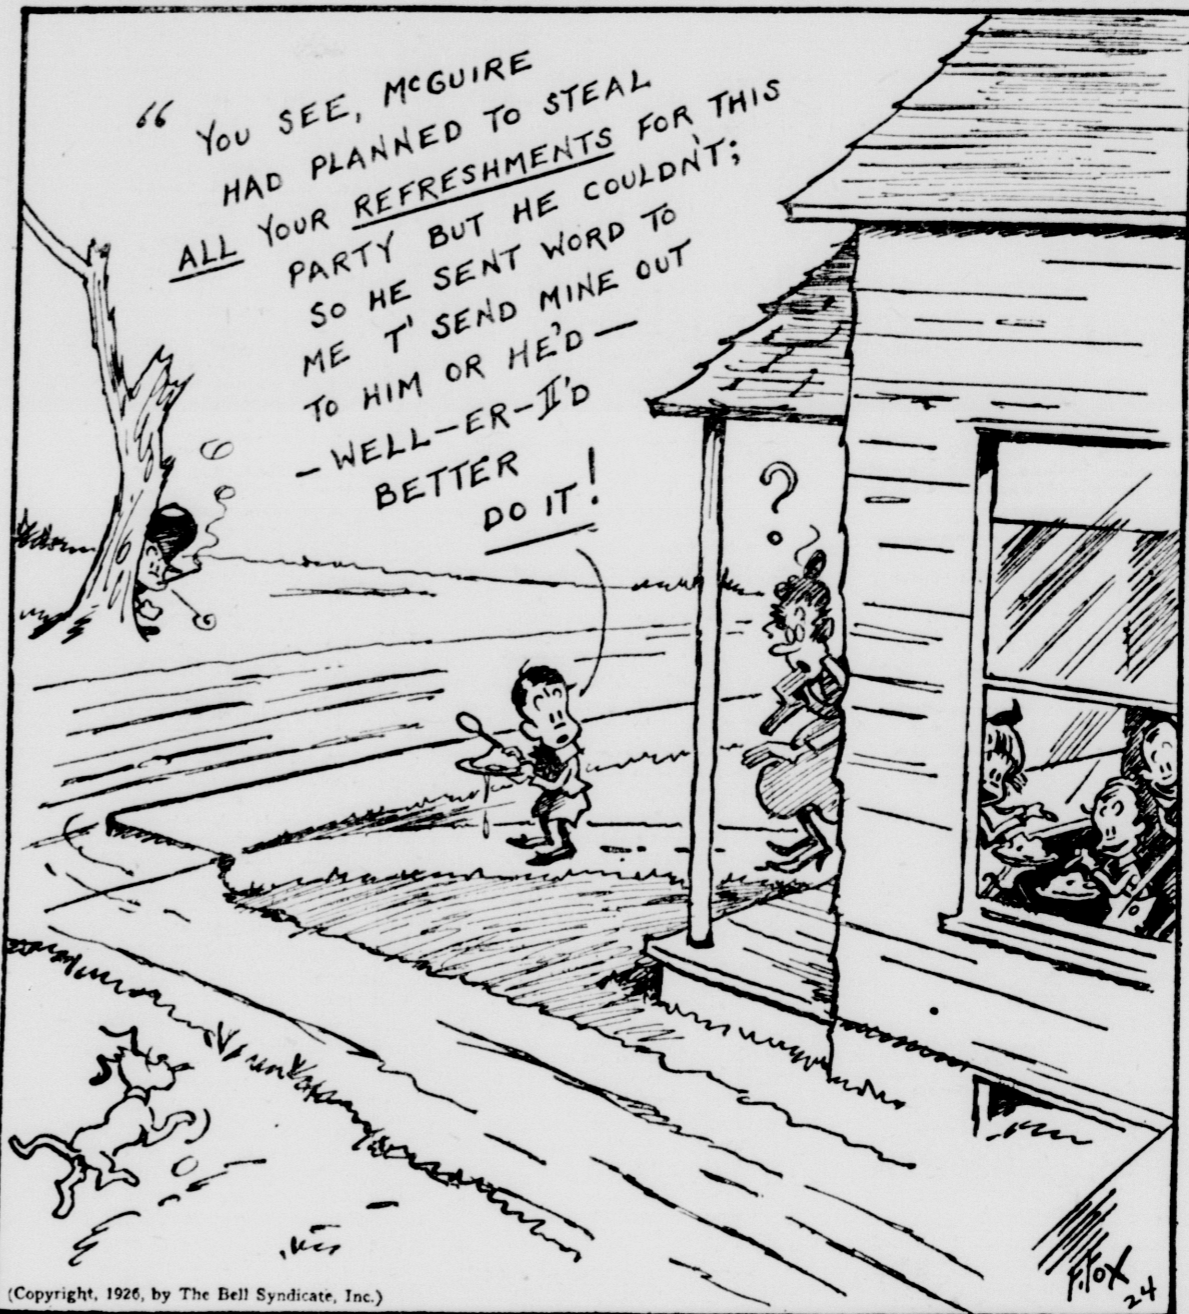

It has been said that certain street car companies are contemplating the use of signalling lights at street intersections. If this is done the public will soon become familiar with such a system.

There will doubtless be those who will contend that such a signal is unnecessary. They will say that a man who knows the traffic regulations will know when he has the right of way and when he has not. One driver of long experience expresses the opinion that such a thing would be of no help to him. He says that he simply is careful to slow down at corners and to watch the approaching driver. He asserts that the only time he is surprised is when the driver of the other car does what is correct—he is never surprised when the other man pays no heed to the customary traffic regulations. This, of course, is pretty hard on automobile drivers as a class.

Mr. Cooper, as well as a number of others interested in automobiles, feels that a device such as his would be of material assistance to those drivers who are neither sure of themselves nor of their fellows.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 24.—Ten years ago New York is said to have had 1,000 recognized pickpockets. Police vigilance and public wariness have thinned the ranks to a comparative handful of professionals. Wrist pockets for wallets added to the hazards.

Gamblers, who used to be prize prey of dips because they carried big sums for emergencies, now carry their surplus in belts around their waists. The subway was the most fertile field in the metropolis for the army of leather lifters. The compactness of the crowd, the swaying and sudden stop of trains, added agile fingers.

They usually worked in pairs. A victim would suddenly find his hat jammed over his eyes and as he turned to vent his wrath and receive the suave apology, the confederate would be removing the scarf pin, wallet or watch. The game grew too common.

Subway travelers suddenly jostled learned instinctively to clap their hand to their most valuable possession and often they found the hand of the thief at work. The police were not needed. A wrathful and oft-looted crowd attended to the culprit with well placed punches and kicks.

The pickpocket, in police parlance, is a "rat," the lowest epithet of the underworld. The dip, the police say, is invariably a sneaking coward. As a rule he is the type who lives off women and primes himself for his forays with drink or drugs.

Most of the plunder went for silk shirt, doggy toggery and playing the races. Crooks who risked their lives in pursuit of crime—such as safe blowers—despised the pickpockets and would not frequent places where they hung out.

One of the shrewdest of pickpockets, who saw the game wasn't worth the risk, now acts as an entertainer at private parties. As a rule a victim is selected with the rest of the guests in on the secret. The pickpocket takes his valuables during the evening and in the end after the victim has worried over the loss awhile, they are returned.

Chuck Connors, the mayor of Chinatown, used to tell a story to illustrate the contempt of the daring crook for the pickpocket. The crook dropped into a famous grocery on the Bowery. As he stood at the bar a pickpocket came up and stood nearby. The crook appraised him coldly, and then calling to a bleary-eyed tatterdemalion against the wall, jerked a finger toward the dip and said: "Come here, bum, and put a pouce on him to give him a little class."

The tiny New York perfume salons—modeled after those in Paris—seem to grow in grandeur. They lodge in the most expensive and luxurious edifices in town. One fashions individual perfumes blended to personality, and not to be duplicated, at approximately $3 a drop. Still another accepts only "recommended" patrons. One society leader in a fashion weekly admits spending $5,000 a year for various blends, regarding it as quite an essential of the modern toilet. At a recent Tiffanish dinner the favors for the ladies were individual perfumes in black bottles which silhouetted the recipient's profile. The expense was said to be $400 a bottle.

Men's perfume ablutions were once confined to a barber's slight cologne scent, which they feigned to abhor. Those days are gone. Sniff them in any theatre or cafe! Men are buying

"Student Prince" Opens
Two-day Engagement
at Ceramic.

"The Student Prince," which is booked for an engagement of two days at the Ceramic theatre, beginning tonight, has made theatrical history in New York, where it is now in the second season at the Ambassador theatre. For length of run and size of attendance, it is expected to outdo all other musical attractions ever shown in America. The play comes here with a cast of 108, which includes a student male chorus of 60 voices. The Messrs. Shubert, producers of "The Student Prince," emphasizes the fact that nothing has been slighted or omitted from the production to be seen here, that it equals in every respect, size of cast, quality of players, size and quality of chorus and magnificence of scenic investiture, the company now in New York.

The book and lyrics were written by Dorothy Donnelly, the music by Edmund Romberg, both of whom

Thin Run-Down People Gain Needed Weight

Men and women whose natural strength doesn't equal the demands of everyday life—whose every effort is a drag—should take Coco Cod to build up lagging strength and energy—to add good, healthy weight, to give them a new lease on life and happiness.

Coco Cod is nature's effective tonic and strength-builder, just pure cod liver oil, with the health vitamins from eggs, yeast, spinach and lettuce—flavored with cocoa to make it pleasant to take.

Coco Cod is not merely a temporary stimulant, it is a nutritive system-builder of unequalled effectiveness. Harry S. Orr, Cincinnati, writes: "I was in a run-down condition and took three bottles of Coco Cod, which helped me very much—so much that I have advised friends to take it, and they did so with good results."

Physicians everywhere recommend Coco Cod for convalescents, for nursing or over-taxed mothers, for its wonderful results in the treatment of anemia, malnutrition, or weak, underweight conditions in young or old. Begin today—take Coco Cod for health. All druggists.—Advertisement.

DEATH CLAIMS
TORONTO MAYOR

T. H. Montgomery Succumbs at Battle Creek, Michigan.

Thomas H. Montgomery, mayor of Toronto, died yesterday at Battle Creek, Mich., where he has been a patient since the first of the year.

Toronto's city hall bell was tolled and the city flag half-masted at the news of the chief executive's death.

Montgomery, at the age of 35 years, became mayor of Toronto for the second time. In the election last fall, he had been named by the greatest majority ever given a candidate in Toronto. On January 8, following a short illness, he went to Battle Creek, after making his appointments. At that time his illness was not considered serious.

Edward S. Stewart, president of Toronto council, acting mayor during Montgomery's illness, was sworn in as mayor yesterday afternoon.

The late mayor is survived by one sister, Mrs. John W. Porter. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Montgomery, deceased. He attended Toronto schools and graduated from a southern university. For several years he practiced law in Steubenville. He was a veteran of the World war, a member of the American Legion, the Masons, the Elks, and the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, pending arrival of the body in Toronto.

MISS McSWEENEY
BRIDGE HOSTESS

Miss Julia McSweeney was hostess to members of the Tuesday Bridge club last evening at her home in Center street.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations and appointments.

Prizes were awarded Miss Thelma Williamson and Miss Mabel Connell.

At the close of the affair a two-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Margaret, and Miss Irene Zwickler. Miss Dolores O'Grady was a club guest.

JIMMY SMITH
ON A. B. C. LANES

Former Match Game Champ With Thomo Bros. Squad.

TOLEDO, O., March 24.—Jimmy Smith, former world's champion match game bowler, will be the feature attraction in the five-man event of the American bowling congress tournament here tonight.

He is to roll with the Thoma Brothers' five, in whose number is Clarence Thoma, one time A. B. C. doubles champion. The team rolls on the mid-night shift on alleys 9 and 10.

Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, Troy, Brandon, Benton Harbor, St. Louis, Schenectady, Dayton, Beaver, Akron, Chicago, Monroe, Oshkosh, Massillon, Erie, Rochester and Lima are cities having teams slated for rolling tonight.

They have this consolation. There were but half a dozen teams of 56 rolling last night able to connect with the wood for prize-money counts. Thus there is plenty of paying timber left.

Park Hotel, Madison, proved the only outfit able to roll in the class, its total being 2,815.

Maybe it was the afternoon working of Eddie Votel, of Braddock, in rolling 731 for first in the singles, or it might have been the 1,291 struck by a Buffalo pair, Ernest and Egan, for second in the doubles, that fixed the evening rolling.

Sand Lots Send Up Diamond Stars; City Youths Are Turning to Golf

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—America's baseball stars are coming from the small towns.

Playing of golf by youngsters in the big cities is cutting short "sand lot" material from the centers of population.

These are the opinions of Bill McKechnie, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, world's champions, who are in Los Angeles for a series of games with Pacific Coast league teams.

"Baseball is more generally played now by the small boy in the country and little towns," the Pirate pilot declared. "In the cities, youngsters are playing golf and there are so many forms of amusement for the big town boy that he does not find much time for baseball."

"Consequently our diamond stars are coming from the 'sticks' and backwoods."

A glance at the official roster of the world's champions proves the statement.

Of the more than 30 players in the Pirates' training camp this spring less than one-third had their homes in the larger cities of the country. The roster showed:

Catchers—Earl S. Smith, Hot Springs, Ark.; John B. Gooch, Nashville, Tenn.; Roy H. Spencer, Norfolk, Va.

Pitchers—Charles Adams, Bethany, Mo.; Vic Aldridge, Terre Haute, Ind.; Joseph Brown, Little Rock, Ark.; J. P. Cook, Texarkana, Ark.; Alvin Crowder, Rochester, N. Y.; Bernard Culliton, Kingston, N. Y.; George Kissinger, Camden, N. J.; Louis Koupal, Kansas City, Mo.; Ray Kramer, Oakland, Cal.; Lee Meadows, Leesburg, Fla.; John E. Morrison, Owensboro, Ky.; John C. Oldham, Ontario, Cal.; William Plesner, Atlantic City, N. J.; Thomas Sheehan, Los Angeles; Don Songer, Kansas City, Mo.; Emil Yde, Freeport, Ill.; Phil Morrison, Owensboro, Ky.

Infielders—George Grantham, Phoenix, Ariz.; John P. McNinis, Manchester, Mass.; Eddie Moore, Baton Rouge, La.; John W. Rawlings, Los Angeles;

Outfielders—Max G. Carey, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Hazen Cuyler, Flint, Mich.; Clyde Barnhart, Hagerstown, Md.; Carson Bigbee, Portland, Ore.; Paul Waner, Ada, Okla.; George Haas, Montclair, N. J.; and Philip V. Voyles, Salisbury, Md.

Paroled Convict Identified As Leader of $80,000 Hold-Up

"Three-fingered" White, paroled convict, under arrest for the murder of a Forst park policeman, was identified today as the leader of the bandit gang that held up the International Harvester company March 5, and escaped with a payroll of $80,000.

White is believed to be the "super bandit" who has engineered a series of daring holdups and bank robberies in this district during the past few months. The cashier of McVicker's theatre viewed him today and partially identified him as the gloved bandit who robbed him of $10,000 on January 2.

Four Killed, One Injured When Train Wrecks Auto

KENTON, March 24.—Coroner Glen T. Hanson today was conducting a thorough investigation into the North street grade crossing tragedy here last night in which four persons lost their lives and another was probably fatally hurt. A Big Four freight train ploughed into a crowded automobile.

The sheriff returned the photograph, showing Mrs. Nesbitt in a golfing attire, to the husband, who hung it opposite his cot in his cell.

OFFERS MILLION FOR GEN. FENG

Record Price on Head of Chinese Troop Leader.

LONDON, March 24.—A million dollars has been offered for the head of General Feng Yu-hsiang, former leader of the Chinese national army, by the governor of the province of Shantung, a dispatch from Peking said today.

suggests using public moneys to solve the housing problem for the poor, providing decent living quarters at reasonable rentals, that is denounced by indignant landlords as "rank socialism."

THE Rev. Dr. Thomas, president of Rutgers university, says all our progress is due to religion—"This nation forges ahead through its faith in God. Science in education have been negligible factors in the progress of America."

The founder of Christianity said: "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's."

He would have rendered unto science and education all credit due to science and education. The radio carrying sermons, including the marvelous sermon on the Mount, to millions unseen by the speaker, would have interested him, and the modern methods of protecting mothers and prolonging the lives of children would have delighted the heart of the great defender of children and women.

Religion is the greatest thing in the world because it deals with the infinite. Science and education are important also.

AN UNPLEASANT story of slave labor comes from Alabama. The state is alleged to have made a profit of more than half a million dollars in 1925 by putting convicts to work in the mines as slaves, under conditions of dreadful cruelty.

Conditions are not as bad as they have been formerly, however; not as bad as when English laborers were branded with a red-hot iron on the cheek if they sought work outside of their own parish; not as bad as when men sent to the mines by Peter the Great lived and died chained to their wheelbarrows.

SAFETY FIRST COMMITTEE TO MEET MARCH 31

Pastors, Labor and Civic Organizations to Cooperate.

CUT DEATH TOLL

Plan Campaign of Education Among Auto Drivers.

Initial meeting of a joint committee named to promote a "safety first" campaign here, will be held in municipal court headquarters, Fourth and Market streets, Wednesday evening, March 31.

Call for the session was issued today by Albert McLain, chairman of the Lions' club safety committee, which is sponsoring the movement. Committees have been appointed by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, City Federation of Women's Clubs, the Columbiana County Motor club, East Liverpool Ministerial association, Trades and Labor council and Chamber of Commerce.

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, Chief of Police McDermott, Service-Safety Director J. M. Moore, President of Council N. P. Kerr, Garry Wills, superintendent of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company, E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club, and representatives of the press have also been invited to attend. Mayor Ralph Benedum will preside.

The purpose of the committee is to wage a campaign of education among automobile drivers, street car operators and pedestrians in order to reduce traffic accidents to a minimum.

PEOPLE'S ARMY DEFENDS PEKIN

Great Battle at City Walls is Expected.

PEKIN, March 24.—The people's army has apparently decided to defend Peking, and possibilities of a great battle at the city walls are foreseen.

Science Claims Victory

Dr. H. T. Barnes, a Montreal professor, admitted today that the explosive was responsible for dislodging the ice and starting it down the river before the gorges above here could pile up against the local ice, creating a much more serious situation.

Within a few minutes after the great gorge moved out the river fell three feet and continued receding. Meantime, the water in Oil creek, tributary of the Allegheny, was dropping, and as rapidly the flood waters left the city's business section.

There was little fear that another flood situation would result here from the movement of Kinzua gorge, 60 miles up the river. This gorge moved 100 feet yesterday, but became jammed in the neck of the river again.

By the time the Kinzua ice reaches here it will be disintegrated to a point where there will be no danger of it jamming, according to the belief expressed by experts.

Thermite Saves Oil City.

In all quarters it was agreed the continual discharge of thermite in the river yesterday when there was sufficient pressure behind the gorge here to move it once it was dislodged, was responsible for relieving Oil City of the worst flood in many years.

Throughout the day crews under the direction of Dr. Barnes ploughed through rain and snow to place charges of the explosive and set them off. By night they had accomplished the end they sought and with a boom of cracking ice, the gorge passed out without further damage.

Many business houses were reopened today, but it will require some time to put others in condition. The entire populace was busy repairing the damage of the flood, estimated at close to a million dollars.

Kinzua Faces Flood.

KINZUA, Pa., March 24.—With high water within 100 feet of the Methodist church, this village today faced a flood similar to that of eight years ago when much damage was done.

About a third of the Kinzua gorge has moved out, cutting a new river channel through fields, but more than twice as much ice as that which went out is lodged for two miles along Kinzua.

All residents of Gawango village have taken refuge in the Complanter Indiana reservation. Water now laps against all houses on the northside of the railroad tracks in Kinzua.

C. G. Grove, Pennsylvania railroad supervisor in charge of the river territory, said the railroad at present is not suffering from the high water, although more ice came through the inundated field this morning.

Boosters have raised $800 to pay the expenses of the team.

Both prosecution and defense attorneys completed their arguments today following a stirring court scene yesterday in which jurors wept as Defense Attorney Ben H. Dewey pictured the defendant as the "Oliver Twist of the southland who learned to make whisky at the feet of a moon-shiner."

FOUR MEN HELD IN OHIO MURDER

RAVENNA, March 24.—Four men were in custody here today in connection with the slaying of Tony Fazazzo, 35, and Sheriff Joseph Jones of Portage county expressed the belief that the murder mystery would be cleared in a few hours.

The four suspects, all Italians, are members of an alleged bootlegging ring, Sheriff Jones said. Fazazzo was also a member of this ring, in the belief of the sheriff.

"I believe Fazazzo had trouble with the 'gang' to which he belonged and this led to his murder," Sheriff Jones said.

CHICAGO MEN LINKED WITH TAYLOR MURDER

Arrests Loom in Killing of Motion Picture Director.

NET TIGHTENS

Los Angeles Attorney Predicts Sensation in Hollywood Case.

CHICAGO, Mar. 24.—Arrest of two Chicago men who are national figures in the moving picture industry, appeared imminent today following the announcement of District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles, that the mysterious murder of William Desmond Taylor had been solved. Taylor, a famous motion picture director, was shot to death in his Hollywood home four years ago.

The name of the murderer or murderers is known to Keyes and his assistant, Harold J. Davis, but it cannot be published until an arrest is made, Keyes said today. Keyes, who has been here since Monday working on the case, would not say whether the Chicago men are wanted as accomplices or merely as material witnesses.

Threads of evidence picked up in New York, Washington and Detroit by Keyes all led to Chicago. Here he found the keystone of his solution. He said men from his office and private detectives have had the two Chicago men under strict surveillance for four weeks.

As soon as he reaches Los Angeles, Keyes said, he will summon for questioning three women. They are: Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, mother of Mary Miles Minter, Miss Minter, herself, and Mabel Normand. While Miss Normand has been absolved of blame for any part in the crime itself, Keyes believes she has considerable information that he needs.

Know Slayer, Says Lawyer.

"We knew who killed Taylor four weeks ago," said Keyes after leaving a conference with State's Attorney Crowe, "but this trip was necessary for the purpose of getting corroborative evidence."

The nation will be shocked when the name of the slayer is announced, the Los Angeles official predicted. He said also that the naming of the conspirators who plotted the murder would create a further sensation. He hinted that these names have not hitherto been mentioned in connection with the case.

Both of the Chicago men now closely shadowed were in Hollywood at the time of the murder. They disappeared from the movie colony immediately after Taylor's body was discovered. One of them is said to have changed his name.

brought to trial in Ohio, at Cleveland and Delaware, on charges growing out of stock selling activities. In each of these trials Kirby won out.

Jury Tampering Charged.

The federal authorities then brought charges against Kirby for using the mails to defraud. He went on trial in federal court here last December but the jury disagreed. In a second trial in federal court Kirby was convicted on January 30, on 14 counts of using the mails to defraud.

While Kirby was in jail, bond having been denied him pending sentence, the federal grand jury probing alleged tampering with the juries that tried him, indicted him twice in connection with the tampering charge. The jury also indicted Benjamin Williamson, former California and Cleveland newspaperman; Jesse Ladow, Mansfield; John Brill, Cleveland; James F. Donovan, Mansfield, and Attorney William R. Irvin, of Akron, in connection with the alleged jury tampering.

American Mutual Indemnity Company Named In Court Suit

Petition to Take Over Mansfield Insurance Corporation Filed at Columbus by State Office.

COLUMBUS, March 24.—Franklin county appellate court has fixed April 8 as hearing day on a petition filed by Harry L. Conn, state superintendent of insurance, seeking authority to take over and operate the Great American Mutual Indemnity company, Mansfield. Conn charged that the company made a false financial statement.

At Conn's request, the appellate judges granted a temporary injunction, restraining 24 banks in Ohio from paying out any of the company's funds. Conn charged that the company improperly listed its assets.

Common Pleas Judge Rogers is to conduct a hearing Thursday in regard to suit filed by Nathan C. Hirsch, a stockholder in the company, asking for appointment of a receiver for the company.

Acting on behalf of all stockholders, Hirsch told the court that due to many unpaid claims, the company was involved in considerable litigation which, if decided against the company, would make it insolvent.

The company, according to Hirsch, has 5,000 stockholders, incorporated in 1917. It issues liability, steam boiler, health, automobile accident, fire and theft insurance.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 24.—Bearish traders in the stock market followed up their successes in Tuesday's closing reaction with an aggressive "drive" against the high-priced industrial stocks in the early trading today.

The market was deluged with selling orders in General Electric, United States Steel, Woolworth, Hudson Motor and a score or more of the industrial leaders, and values quickly melted under the indifferent buying demand which these selling orders encountered.

Call money renewals were posted at 4 1/2 per cent. French francs dipped to 3.48 1/2, the lowest since March, 1924.

plete details of the respective competitions. Among the advantages daily reading of the paper will give are:

First—Pupils, teachers and parents will learn the scope of this spelling bee.

Second—The more difficult words given out in the preliminary contests will be published. By following the paper daily pupils will be kept in close touch with the tongue twisters which they may be called upon to spell.

Third—Solid lists of words will be published from each of the district meetings. There will probably be several of these district meets. To miss these lists might result in defeat in the finals.

Why the Bee? From far and wide comes the cry for better spellers. Commercial school heads complain about students who enroll in their schools. They say too much time must be spent in teaching them the rudiments of spelling, thus using up the time which should be given to more advanced and technical studies.

Professional men in turn complain that stenographers and clerks cannot spell. Business men bewail the fact that the "day of the old fashioned speller" has passed. They charge that carelessness in spelling adds to the duties of department heads who must check all work carefully not alone for technical errors but the orthography.

Federal Road Funds Available Only For 18-Foot Highways

A ruling by the federal highway department that hereafter federal road funds will be available only for construction of 18-foot highways, official notice of which has just been received by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk, has been transmitted to the county commissioners.

This ruling means that where federal aid is appropriated for improved highway construction in this county, and present plans call for a 16-foot road, the width of such road has to be extended one foot on either side. Hereafter it will cost the county more money for road construction than in the past, it being pointed out that where an 18-foot road is to be built instead of a 16-foot road, there will be approximately 1,920 more square yards in the 18-foot road than in the 16-foot highway.

The first new Columbiana county road to be built by this new federal ruling is that section of the Wellsville-Salineville road within the corporate limits of Salineville, the contract for this half-mile improvement having been awarded Lewis & Copeland of Lima, by the state highway department last week. This piece of road will be 18-feet wide in Washington and Yellow Creek township have been built to a width of 16 feet.

It has been pointed out, however, that the new federal ruling has to do with only those highways where there is a participation of federal aid. There are many other highways in the county that are to be built from funds provided by the recent bond issue where federal aid does not apply, and this means that the roads will be built to a width of 16 feet.

The county will be compelled to put more money into the small Salineville job than it anticipated, as the additional yardage of concrete to make an 18-foot width was anticipated by the state highway department when the contract was awarded.

"Take a 10-mile road improvement that is 18 feet wide and when we planned but a 16-foot road, you can see how much more it is going to cost the county under this federal ruling," Chairman Conrad Berg of the county commissioners declared today. "The matter summed up briefly, so far as federal funds are concerned is to take it or leave it, but as in the construction of a number of county roads federal aid was anticipated, our hands have been tied to a great extent, and we are helpless to do anything else but to abide by the Washington ruling."

Color Photography New Film Surprise At The American

Blanche Sweet has just experienced a new screen thrill! For the first time in her career before the camera, she has seen herself portrayed on the screen in color. And she laughingly admits she likes herself!

The color sequence is the opening episode of the George Fitzmaurice production, "His Supreme Moment," in which Miss Sweet is featured with Ronald Colman, and which is now at the American theatre. The entire incident has been photographed in real color by the improved Technicolor Process.

"After seeing oneself in black and white on the screen, the first glimpse of your own face in color comes as a distinct but rather pleasant shock," Miss Sweet said as she left the projection room after viewing the color rushes. "The effect is exactly like having suddenly acquired a new face and features."

So successful were the first few motor buses introduced into Moscow a year ago that now sixty are operating there.

MEYERS LAKE PARK LEASE

Northern Ohio Traction Company Disposes of Canton Resort.

Declaring that the management of amusement parks and the running of electric railways do not belong in the same category of business, the Northern Ohio Traction & Light company has leased the Meyers Lake park property to the Meyers Lake Park Co., a Canton corporation, for 25 years. The new organization is headed by George Sinclair, president; H. K. Rosenberry, vice president and treasurer and Carl Sinclair, secretary. The amount of the consideration was not made public. The lease includes 272 acres of land and water, all the cottages, Lakeside hotel and Lakeside Shrine Golf club. President Sinclair announced that the park will open early in May and that the former custom of a gate charge for automobile patrons will be done away with this year. Admission to the park will be free and there will be plenty of free parking space. Vice President Rosenberry also said that extensive improvements would be made to the property in the near future, involving approximately $150,000 in expenditures. E. E. Monroe has been named as manager. Some of the many amusements to be found at Meyers Lake Park include "Tumble-In," "the whip," pony track, theater, boating, "red racer," "skyrocket and hotel, excellent dining room and moonlight ballroom.

Bootleg Prices Are Soaring As Dry Forces Tighten Up

Pittsburgh, One of Country's Wettest Spots, is Gradually Drying up as Enforcement Unit Gets Busy.

PITTSBURGH.—Prices of bootleg liquor in the Pittsburgh district, admittedly one of the "wettest" spots in the officially dry United States, today were reported steadily increasing.

Only two factors normally send booze prices upward, those who profess to keep abreast with the trend of the illicit industry assert, namely, scarcity of supply and improved quality. They frankly declare the quality could be better.

While, of course, dispensers of the contraband beverage feel no qualms because of advancing liquor quotations, law enforcement organizations interpret the condition as an unquestionable indication that Frederick C. Baird's rule as federal prohibition administrator for the era is having the intended effect.

Administrator Satisfied.
The administrator himself, from his unpretentious suite in the House building, smiled his satisfaction when informed of the "bull" market, and reiterated his belief that the Volstead law can be enforced.

Despite the fact that in the comparatively short time Gen. L. C. Andrews' present enforcement system has been in effect, Baird's success has won for his division the unofficial title of "banner" unit, it failed to turn the administrator's head.

Personally recommended for the job

by Elbert H. Gary, the steel magnate, Baird, a former "dollar-a-year man" and official of the late Andrew Carnegie's Bessemer railroad directs the drying up of the Pittsburgh area from a modestly furnished office. His name is not even lettered on the door.

Mahogany Not Necessary.
Mahogany is not necessary in enforcing the law, Baird maintains. He places great confidence in the integrity of his carefully chosen field agents, and once they betray his confidence they are "through."

"Our results would indicate that the prohibition law can be enforced, if proper steps are taken in this direction," the administrator declared. "If after an honest effort is made to enforce the law, the task is found too great, then it is time to talk modification. But until such time, producers and consumers of liquor need expect no sympathy from this office."

Baird's practice of enlisting every individual in his enforcement organization, through distribution of "tip" cards, has met with condemnation and approval alike here.

Citizen's Duty.
The administrator justifies the use of these cards, which anyone knowing of liquor law violations is requested to fill out and forward to the dry agents, as being a part of the citizen's duty to his country in upholding the law.

Opponents of the plan have characterized it as "spying on your neighbor" and "tattling." However, when Baird made a trip to Washington recently to explain the working of the plan to General Andrews, the prohibition czar is reported to have given it his unqualified approval and recommended it to other divisional dry chiefs.

Fifty persons, a majority of them high school students, narrowly escaped death when a Chicago tram car left the rails on a trestle and plunged 20 feet into Des-Plaines river. No one was in danger of drowning, because of the river's low level at this time of the year. Photo shows the wreck.

UNKISSED COLLEGE SHEIK SUCCEUMS TO BARRAGE FROM PRETTY GIRLS' LIPS

BOSTON.—Arthur P. Tillinghast of Danvers, Conn., the unkissed Apollo of the Boston University seniors, has relinquished his claim to virgin lips.

This girlish student surrendered without a protest, not to one, but four of Boston's fairest and most lovely of the loveliest. And to make certain that the collegiate's kiss fast is definitely broken these four damsels, named Eve Wendt, Stella Bolton, Nina Penn and Violet Folliis, just stepped up and planted kiss after kiss on the famous Boston unkissed lips.

Arthur didn't try to struggle. He succumbed in manly subservience to the will of the charming quartette.

One girl kissed him, then the next and then two at a time, each on a cheek and "Tillie," as he is popularly known among his classmates, didn't blink an eyelash.

This boy had never been kissed, at least, so he claimed, so the girls continued to convince him of the folly of stubbornness.

"It's simply great," Tillinghast agreed when he had a chance to catch his breath.

"Tillie" is an honor student at the College of Business Administration, and is one of the most popular members of his class. He has held many class offices and is a member of the "Skull," an honorary fraternity. Now he is called the college "sheik."

ANNUAL COST OF AUTOS HITS RECORD MARK

Statistics Show U. S. Motor Bill is Four-teen Billions.

SURVEY IS MADE

Production Proceeding at Rate of 4,000 Cars a Year.

NEW YORK.—It costs the population of the United States $14,000,000,000 a year to indulge its preferences for rubber-tired self propelled vehicles, it was reported today by the Bureau of Internal Technology.

This stupendous figure was attained as the result of a survey of data accumulated by the Bureau, by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, by the Motors and Accessories Manufacturers' Association, by associations of the producers, insurance companies, labor organizations, gasoline and oil distributors.

The survey reveals that the automotive industry is now the biggest business in the United States. The nation's annual retail investment in automobiles is greater than the total value of our farm crops. It is more than twice as great as our total annual investment in the construction of new buildings.

4,000,000 a Year.

"Production of automobiles now proceeds at the rate of 4,000,000 a year," the Bureau of Industrial Technology reports. "The average retail value, with accessories, is $1,000 per car. Not all of this represents American investment, however, for the value of automobile we export in a year has mounted to $250,000,000."

The last annual registration of automobiles was approximately 20,000,000. The Bureau of Industrial Technology concludes that it costs the average automobile owner somewhat over $700 a year to own and operate his car. But if each man, woman and child in the nation would help pay the bill, the annual pro rata assessment would be $17.

To demonstrate "where the automobile dollar goes," the Bureau made public the following table representing the annual national expenditure on investment and upkeep:

Cost of cars, accessories	$ 3,750,000,000
Insurance	300,000,000
Upkeep, repairs	2,000,000,000
Depreciation	2,500,000,000
Tires	618,000,000
Garaging	900,000,000
Interest on investment	500,000,000
Gasoline	1,200,000,000
Drivers' wages	1,600,000,000
Oil	300,000,000
Taxes	625,000,000
Total	$14,293,000,000

Traffic Problems.

"The development of this great industry has brought correspondingly important traffic problems," the Bureau reports. "Every city is grappling with parking plans designed to relieve street and highway congestion and eliminate accidents. The widening of thoroughfares, the establishment of public garages and parking spaces, and the introduction of signal towers are among the means being employed."

"One of the counties direct results of the great development of the automobile industry is the enormous road-building program now in progress in this country, calling for the expenditure of about $1,000,000,000 a year, to say nothing of the enormous up-building of all suburban communities."

LOWELL SAYS CHURCH CROWDS FALL OFF AS BITTERNESS WANES

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The decrease in antipathy and bitterness between various religious sects is one explanation for the falling off in church attendance lately, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard College told the Harvard Graduate Schools Society, in addressing them at the Phillips Brooks House.

"Man is naturally a combative animal," said the Harvard executive, who added that the increased respect and cooperation manifest between the different Christian sects has reacted in a lessened interest in religion by church followers who now stay at home Sunday mornings.

By way of illustration, President Lowell remarked that if there were fewer intercollegiate football games attendance at the colleges would also fall off.

Harvard originally was founded to produce ministers, and at one time half of the graduates were ministers, the speaker said. Too few Harvard graduates, he continued, realize the possibilities for a career in the ministry, chiefly because they believe they will meet only the limited few who belong to one religious sect. In concluding, he urged those present to go into the ministry.

Professor Holmes Impressed by Peace Congress in India

MADRAS.—Professor J. H. Holmes, professor of philosophy of Swarthmore college, Pa., and a leader of the peace movement in the United States, has arrived here after attending the recent peace congress at Cawnpore, where he met Gandhi and other Indian leaders.

Interviewed, Professor Holmes expressed admiration at the calm way in which the congress was held, saying that in America a similar congress would have been attended by many police.

Asked for his most striking impression of India, Professor Holmes said the thought it was the widespread poverty of the masses, and the extreme luxury of the few.

Stribling Risks Prestige In Battle With Jimmy Slattery

FACES BUFFALO PUG AT GARDEN

Must Send Foe Out Feet First or Accept Stigma of Moral Defeat.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Young Stribling, established as a ranking heavyweight contender more or less by gratuity in consequence of the Miami washout, will try to make the best of an unnecessarily bad match at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. He will try to knock Jimmy Slattery flatter than a glass of stale beer within the prescribed limit of ten rounds but if he doesn't—good night, Tostl.

The prestige he gained by inference, without so much as raising his hands at Miami, will be no more. To the writer's unenlightened way of thinking, this means that Stribling is going a bit out of his way to look for grief. He must send an opponent away, feet first, or accept the stigma of a moral defeat. There seems to be no excuse for making a match so implausible.

Slattery, in the first place, is no man's push-over. But he was knocked out eight months ago by Dave Shade, a legitimate welterweight at the time, and if Stribling neglects to repeat the gesture, he must face the odious comparison of falling where a welterweight succeeded.

In other words, he gains little if he succeeds and loses plenty if he fails. That sort of thing may be smart business but you can't prove it by the sharpshooters.

As Stribling stands today, without the doubtful aid of the Slattery match, he is a man who is willing to face Gene Tunney, rated No. 3 on Rickard's list and being heroically misnamed as Dempsey's next opponent. The Stribling-Tunney match failed to click at Miami but this only served to create a demand for it elsewhere and, even at this moment, the exhorters are merely awaiting the outcome of tomorrow night's business before sending the good word in on Tunney and Stribling.

But if the latter doesn't win in impressively, i. e., to wit and roughly speaking, by a knockout, the good word is likely to be very bad.

Slattery, of course, isn't the man he was twelve months ago nor is he even as good as he was as far back as two years ago when he outstepped Stribling in six rounds. But he still retains something of his old sparkle and speed and ten rounds often are all too short for a man who is trying to catch a human butterfly.

It might also be mentioned also that Stribling is not a first class puncher. It is conceivable that he might hit James on the jaw without either immediate or permanent results, in spite of the young man's fragile chin.

As a matter of record, it took a puncher like Berlenbach eleven rounds to do what Stribling will try to do in ten.

20 Teams File Entry Fees For Tournament

Seven City Squads Down for Action; Lisbon, Bellaire, Pittsburgh and Washington, Pa., Quints Come in.

EXACTLY 20 amateur basketball teams from the Tri-State district today had their entrance deposits in the hands of officials here for the tournament Saturday at the high school, according to announcement by Registrar O. E. Greenawald.

With a score in and more expected today, the affair promises to surpass all expectations.

Seven East Liverpool squads have lined up for action and thirteen or more out-of-town teams will provide a lot of stiff opposition.

The Senators, a Wellsville E-High school organization, are expected to file today.

Drawings will be held tonight in charge of Registrar Greenawald, Director George T. Kidder, Harding Conwell and James Moore.

Ceramic City teams down for tournament play include the Glenmore A. C. Liberty Billiards, Richard Allen A. C. Indians, Selects, Power Class, and the Trotter Chevrolets.

Three additional out of town teams came into the fold yesterday afternoon—the Wright Holsts, of Lisbon, who last night handed the Powers a 24-22 defeat, the Standard Ads, of Bellaire, and the Weber A. A., of Pittsburgh, Pa.

In addition to those teams there will be the Thermostats, of Youngstown, Pa.; Scholastics, of Lisbon; Sigma Nu Serpents, of Alliance; M. E. church, Salineville; Johns' Cigars, of Wheeling, W. Va.; First Presbyterians, of Aspinwall, Pa.; Home Laundrys, Toronto; Beaver Independents; Valley Odds, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Hudson Motors, Washington, Pa.

Glenna Shows Florida She's Ready To Grab British Women's Golf Title

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 23.—Glenna Collett is playing a brand of golf today that stamps her as ready to win the coveted British women's championship, equivalent to the world's championship, and an honor that eluded her last year.

Forced to play at her best to ward off defeat in the sectional tournaments about Florida this winter season, she has carried her game a bit farther, in the estimation of most critics, than it has ever been before.

No one who has watched her play all season feels that she was playing "over her head," as they say in sport parlance, when she started the golfing fraternity with her score of 79 at Ormond Beach a short time ago. This set a new record for the course. Driving Miss Collett to this grade of golf was no less a person than Miss Mary K. Browne, who turned in a card of 83 for the course.

While this was the best record of the season for the powerful driving miss, with the exception of the beautifully placed green shots that enabled her to lower her score, her golf was the same steady, consistently deadly kind that has marked her play right along.

Last year the Providence, R. I., maid carried off most of the honors in Florida, won the national honors at home, and, after losing in the British tourney because she was not acclimated to the British air and links, Miss Collett went to France and won the French women's title for the second time.

Her play in the finals of the U. S. national tourney was rated the most superb bit of golfing ever exhibited by an American woman. Forced to play Mrs. Alexa Stirling Frazer, several times national champ, in the final round, Miss Collett uncorked a brand of golf that compared favorably with that of many male champions.

It is interesting, as one watches the girl champ play, to listen to the side chatter of the male members of the gallery. Although most of them do well to turn in an 85 or 90, they find many faults with her playing form and her technique—this the while she is running up a better score than they ever hope to deliver at the clubhouse.

They fail to realize that 79 is great golf, whether a man or woman plays it. Great when considered from the angle of the thousands who seek in vain to get such a score.

However, the side comment, if it does reach the champion, does not worry her. She has, among other attributes, the perfect poise needed in tourney play.

She plans to leave for England shortly after her last tourney in the south and in plenty of time to acclimate herself to conditions abroad. She will carry with her more experience, more confidence, greater poise, a better game—and KNOWLEDGE OF BRITISH TOURNEY PLAY GLEANED LAST SUMMER.

As she plays now there seems to be but one woman in the world capable of equalling her at her best—Joyce Wethered. And what a battle if they meet in the British tourney this year!

GIANTS AT PEAK FORM. SARASOTA, Fla., March 24.—John McGraw declared today that his New York Giants were at the peak of their form for the impending championship race and gave most of the players a day off.

Go home—take steaming hot bath—open pores good per directions you find with each bottle of the liniment—then get the wife to apply it or rub it in good yourself. Then tumble into bed. You may have felt old, stiff, rheumatic, achy and lame but the warmth of that liniment in a few minutes will have you warm as toast with pains vanishing like the mist. Soon you'll be sound asleep and next morning you'll hop out of bed like a kid feeling younger and fit as a fiddle. Did you ever try it? Then don't say it can't be done. I've trained men for 42 years and I know even chronic old cases get relief in a few applications and most cases in a single night. Just ask your druggist for a bottle of "Mike Martin's Liniment, the kind used by the Professional Athletics." It comes in a bottle like other liniments but OH what a difference in results. Wills Ends Great Riviera Campaign

CANNES, March 24.—Helen Wills ended a brilliant Riviera campaign today, when she was declared winner of the Cannes Lawn Tennis club tournament singles, her opponent, Miss Joan Ridley, having scratched.

Miss Wills has been on the Riviera nine weeks and has played in the women's singles in eight tournaments. She has won six tournaments, and had one forfeited to her. She lost only one tournament, and that at Cannes to Miss Lenglen.

In the eight tournaments Miss Wills has won 481 games to her opponents 109.

Within the next two weeks it is probable that the board will visit Salineville and Columbiana.

BOWLING

Six more bowlers performed on the Liberty alleys last night in Fleming's annual handicap tournament but failed to endanger high scores registered the previous night by M. E. Blythe, who tapped the timber for a 468.

Remaining singles bowlers will have their last opportunity tonight to get in their scores. Doubles events start tomorrow.

BOB CRUCKSHANK LEADING GOLFERS

By Robert E. Harlow.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24.—Bobby Cruckshank, who has been playing good competitive golf and endorsing prize money checks from Los Angeles to St. Petersburg, was leading once more for the biggest slice of cash when the third round was played today in the West Coast open championship over the links of Pasadena Country club.

NOTED JOCKEYS ARE SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, March 24.—That thoroughbred racing means to run its affairs under a minimum of sharp practice this year, was self-evident today, following the action of the Jockey club of New York in denying riding license to Clarence Kummer and L. M. Fator, nationally famous jockeys.

In addition to refusing licenses and reinstatements to several trainers. This action, following so closely the sensational clean up in Kentucky, left racing on a sounder foundation than at any time in recent years.

The Kummer incident, coming as a complete surprise, furnished a small sensation. He is one of the leading jockeys of the turf and has won more than $1,000,000 in purses and 439 races since 1918. He is under contract to J. F. and E. M. Byers, Pittsburgh.

Highs Close Season With Benefit Clash

Play Christian Church Squad Tonight; Sweaters to be Purchased for Seven Letter Men.

EAST LIVERPOOL, basketball followers tonight will have their last chance to see Lora's Blue and White five in action during the season nearing a close.

The high school passers will take on the Christian squad of the Sunday school cage circuit in a special exhibition contest at the high school gymnasium.

The affair has been arranged as a benefit engagement, the proceeds be ing pledged for the purchase of sweaters for the letter men of the team.

This contingent includes Captain Tom Pusey, guard; "Toko" Bough, center; Jimmy Hamilton, forward; Dick Larkins, guard; Holmie Deidrick, forward; Carl Wilson, forward; and Elmer English, center and forward.

The main attraction will start at 8:15. In the preliminary, beginning at 7:15, the 1925 and 1926 champions of the grade schools will battle for supremacy. Both, it happens, are teams from Central building.

There will be no reserved seats for tonight's encounters. Everything will be general admission—"first come, first served." A straight charge of 35 cents will be made for all seats.

TIGERS-TORONTO PLAY EXHIBITION

Seven infielders, five outfielders, three catchers and ten pitchers will comprise Cobb's team this year. Johnny Neumann, first baseman, has been sold outright to Cleveland. Hubbell and Carroll will be with Toronto this year and other recruits will be sent to the minors this week.

DODGERS EXPECT TO JOLT CHAMPS

TAMPA, Fla., March 24.—The Brooklyn Dodgers arrived here today, determined to maintain their excellent spring record. They will meet the champion Senators this afternoon and expect to win in spite of a shaky infield, caused by Stock's failure to sign and the illness of Johnny Butler.

Quality Runs Rings Around the Price!

The New Twentieth $1590 f.o.b. Cleveland

THE appeal of the new Chandler's decreased prices is heightened and intensified by the new Chandler's increased quality.

Compared side by side with others of similar price, the new Chandler is seen to be richer, roomier and sturdier—and far more powerful and delightful in its performance.

Compared side by side with others of equivalent size and quality, the new Chandler is seen to be $400 to $600 lower in price.

As a good example, look at the new Twentieth Century Sedan—a big, luxurious 4-door Sedan priced as if it were merely a 2-door coach!

Drive it—that's the real test of quality. Feel the mighty power of its championship Pikes Peak Motor. Lean back in its deep, soft cushions and note the jarless smoothness of its flight. Such performance!

The car has, moreover, the famous "One Shot" Lubrication System, by which a mere press of your heel on a plunger instantly lubricates the entire chassis. And still the story is less than half-told. You'll simply have to see the car to appreciate all that it is.

Other popular new models: Metropolitan Sedan De Luxe, $1895; Seven-Passenger Sedan, $1995; Brougham, $1695; Comrade Roadster, $1695; all prices f.o.b. Cleveland.

SENIORS-JUNIORS
NAB CLASS GAMES

Seniors, 41; Part Time School, 9.
Juniors, 21; Freshmen, 18.

These were the results of the second round yesterday of the interclass basketball tournaments.

The Seniors led from the start, rolling up 20 points in the first half to their opponents' four, and the rest of the tilt was similar to that of the earlier period.

The Freshmen Junior contest was a real basketball battle, both teams playing whirlwind ball all the way. The Juniors took the lead, 4 to 2, at the end of the first quarter, and increased the margin in the second period, the score being 12 to 5 at the half.

Trailing, 18 to 9, the Freshies played the Juniors off their feet, in the final period and instead of the game looking like an easy Junior victory, it became anybody's battle. The Freshies tried hard to overhaul their rivals but the nine-point lead that the Juniors gained in the first three periods was too much to overcome.

In yesterday's drawing for the tournament, the Sophomores drew a bye and they will play the winner of the Juniors-Seniors contest in the final.

Today's games will be between the Seniors and Juniors, while the Senior girls will clash with the Sophomores.

BOOKIES FINISH

SEASON LOSERS

CHICAGO, March 24.—The latest racing expose in Kentucky had no echo here today when eleven bookmakers complained that they had quit losers at Hawthorne track last summer. A twelfth boasted that he had quit just before the "padlock poison" had been spread.

Their complaints were inspired by the action of the Kentucky Racing association and the New York Jockey club in barring several jockeys and trainers who were alleged to have thrown races. Each said he could name two or three miscreant jockeys at Hawthorne, but none was willing to go on record.

TOUR IN ITALY

CANNES, March 24.—Helen Willis leaves for Italy tomorrow, the final match in the Cannes Lawn Tennis club having been definitely cancelled.

Miss Joan Ridley, of England, who was to have opposed Miss Willis in this match, has scratched, because of a severely bruised thumb, caught in an automobile door.

Miss Willis goes first to Florence, where she will remain five days, thence to Milan for two days, Rome for three days and Lake Como for one day. She will visit the art galleries in these cities and will play exhibition tennis matches, arranged by Baron De Morpurgo, the Italian star.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

EDGAR POE NORRIS

TWENTY-NINE.

Clay Wales had no idea of where they would go if his mother should happen to be disagreeable about their staying there for a few days. He didn't think she would be, however. He imagined she would be rather glad to see him back. It was the first time he had been away from her so long since he was in the army. And even though at times they got along at sword-point, he knew that she loved him. His always won those little wars, anyway, as children usually do. And he loved her, after a filial fashion.

"I hope we won't inconvenience your mother," said Eve doubtfully as the taxicab neared the Wales bungalow.

"We won't. We won't be there but a few days, anyway."

"I wonder if ever a married young couple were so unprepared to live together! You'd think we HAD to get married!"

"Perhaps that is what other people do think," Clay remarked, half aloud.

Eve whirled around to look at him, flushing. He broke into a laugh.

"Clay! You don't think they DO?"

"Of course not, dear. I was just being funny."

His wife's frown did not disappear. "People MIGHT think that. We did get married in a rush. You never can tell what people are going to say."

"Ah! Let 'em think it is their good to. We don't care. That's as good a reason for getting married as any other, and better than the one most persons have. At least it's a reason."

Eve didn't understand what he was driving at with this remark, and did not reply. She still was worried. She knew how utterly foundationless such malicious gossip was. And there were girls like Mary Sullivan who would start just such a story.

The taxi stopped with a jerk in front of the destination. Clay thought he saw a figure get up and leave the window of the house. What if his mother looked the door on them? He was so taken up with this thought that he gave the taxi driver seventy-five cents more than he intended to. The curt thanks he got for the tip did not make him regret the mistake the less. He hated having to tip people.

The door opened as the rang.

"Well!"

"Here we are, mother, dear."

"Well!"

Eve stepped forward to kiss her mother-in-law. Mrs. Wales submitted stiffly.

"We want to pile in on you for a few days, mother. Just a few days. We're going to look around today for a place to live in."

Eve regarded the elderly woman apprehensively. Mrs. Wales did not respond immediately. "I guess that will be all right. You'll have to wait until I get the room in order. I've been using it for sewing."

"I'll be glad to straighten it for you, Mrs. Wales. We aren't going to let you go to any trouble because of us. I hope we won't inconvenience you too much."

Mrs. Wales was not put at ease by Eve's suggestion. "No, I'd rather do it. You wouldn't know where to put things. You two first sit down; it won't take me but a minute." She bustled off upstairs.

"You see, she doesn't mind having us," Clay said, relieving himself.

Eve was not convinced. "We'll have a place of our own by Monday or Tuesday. . . . We mustn't let your mother go to any trouble to provide food for us. We can eat downtown."

"Yes."

Clay wanted to do that. His mother, to save herself work, did not observe many of the formalities which usually attend the serving of food. Usually she served her husband and son their meals in the kitchen, not bothering to lay the table in the dining-room. This practice always annoyed Clay but his offers to set the dining-table, and even to carry the food in there, had no effect. "You're always trying to make more work for me," she would complain, crushingly. "Your father is satisfied to eat in the kitchen." On Sundays, however, dinner was always served in the dining room.

Now, as Clay began to consider it, he was sorry that he had brought Eve here. His mother was not always as presentable in appearance as she happened to be this morning, and sometimes, when she was not feeling well, the house got in a rather disorderly shape. He didn't want his bride to know that he had been brought up in such surroundings. He was still trying to give Eve a better impression of him than she was likely to have if she saw things as they really were. It is always so on marriage.

"Where shall we look for a place?" Eve asked suddenly. "We'll have to take a furnished apartment at first, I suppose."

"Some real estate agency will have lots of places listed. And they'll take us around in an automobile to see them. That will be the easiest, I guess."

"Yes. . . . But we'll have to be able to tell them how much we want to pay."

"I don't know. I don't know what houses cost."

"Well, they say your rent shouldn't be more than a fourth of your income, but that seems too much to me."

"Seems to me like fifty dollars a month ought to be enough."

"I don't think so. . . . Oh, Clay, if I work it'll be much easier for us to get along."

"I don't think you ought to work," he replied, but not as forcefully as he had been saying it.

Eve patted his hand. "I'm going back to the office Monday. Now, that's settled."

Clay did not protest. If she were working, there wouldn't be any danger of her running around too much. On the other hand, there was John Ingate. But he had less apprehensiveness on that score now. He wondered if John Ingate was still in Chicago paying court to Miss Johnstone.

"I think I'll run down to the office now for a little while," Eve spoke up. "To see how things are, and let them know I'm coming back." She rose and kissed him. "I'll be back in an hour or two."

(To be continued.)

What does John Ingate say to Eve when they are alone in his private office? Does he allow her to resume work as his secretary? See the next instalment.

Let the State Decide.

MR. BUCKNER, United States attorney in New York, who knows about prohibition, its enforcement being his impossible job, talks common sense to this effect:

Let each state decide for itself what drinks may be sold within its territory, how much alcohol they may contain.

To let the different states make their own experiments, in accordance with the will of the majority, might be sane. Each state is allowed to make its own laws for divorce, to regulate punishment for horse thieves and different ways of putting criminals to death. To let each state make its own prohibition law, subject to the eighteenth amendment forbidding intoxication, might be wisdom.

THE bureau of industrial technology says it costs the United States fourteen billions a year to buy automobiles and keep them running.

That's more than the amount loaned to Europe during the war and it is also a better investment than the war loan. From Europe for our ten billions we get criticism, the accusation of meanness.

From the automobile for our fourteen billions we get national health, saving of time, much pleasure, millions of families united. At fourteen billions a year the automobile is a bargain.

If you haven't got yours yet, get it now, with the opening of spring.

TO USE public moneys for the comfort of the prosperous class is "sound conservatism." To use it for the unprosperous class, their wives and children, is socialism.

We spend thousands on a fine bride path in a great park, supplying soft footing for the horses for the well-to-do, that's well.

FULTZ DENIES FOGO CHARGES AS HE SEEKS REINSTATEMENT

Wellsville Officer Appeals to Civil Service Commission.

ANSWER FILED

Copies of Mayor's Allegations in Hands of Members.

Denying all allegations of misconduct in office and neglect of duty, John H. Fultz, Wellsville's deposed chief of police, today was awaiting action of the civil service commission that will set in motion charges filed against him by Mayor Wallace L. Fogo.

Asserting that "if there has been any laxity" in law enforcement since January 1, 1926, "it has been due to your failure to cooperate as chief executive and your effort to cause dissension in the police department," Fultz yesterday filed his answer to Mayor Fogo's charges and appealed to the civil service commission for a hearing.

Dwight McLean, chairman of the commission, at noon today announced that he had taken no action toward calling a meeting for the purpose of setting a trial date. This, according to law, must occur within 30 days of the certification of the defendant's appeal.

Fultz personally presented his appeal to Secretary Gratian V. Dugan, of the commission, late yesterday afternoon. According to Dugan, individual members of the commission have received copies of the charges upon which Mayor Fogo based the suspension of Fultz.

Reply to Mayor.
The former police head's reply to the mayor and his appeal to the commission, read as follows:
"Wallace L. Fogo, Mayor, Wellsville, Ohio,
"Honorable and Dear Sir:

Insane Farmer Digs Grave, But Suicide Plan Fails

Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter Prevents John Mosher, 48, Guilford, From Slashing His Throat With Pocket Knife.

Mentally unbalanced, as the result of worry, John Mosher, 48, farmer of Guilford, went to the Mt. Zion cemetery, near the county home, yesterday afternoon, dug his own grave alongside that of a deceased daughter's, but was prevented from slashing his throat with a pocketknife by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and friends.

Presumably with the intention of killing himself, Mosher, whose actions had been queer in recent weeks, dug a seven-foot hole in the burial plot near the resting place of a girl who died a year ago.

He then went to Galen Bowman's home, near the cemetery, telephoned to members of his family his suicide plan and instructed them to send an undertaker to take charge of his body. He later returned to the cemetery and jumped into the grave.

The sheriff's office in Lisbon was immediately notified, and Deputy Kindsvatter and Constable Clarence Wetzel hurried to the cemetery. When the officers arrived Mosher was seated on a shovel at the bottom of the pit.

He was taken to Lisbon, where he spent his night in jail. A lunacy commission, consisting of Dr. J. H. Johnson and Dr. Seward Harris, appointed by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, examined the prisoner this morning and he was declared insane. He will be committed to the Massillon hospital.

CLEVELAND DISCOUNT PRESIDENT SENTENCED TO SERVE SEVEN YEARS

Financier, Convicted in Federal Court After Six Trials Following Collapse of Company, Must Pay Fines Aggregating $7,000 as Well as go to Atlanta Cell.

U. S. JUDGE JOHN M. KILLITTS OVERRULES MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Convicted January 30 on 14 Counts of Using Mails to Defraud, Prisoner Hears Fate After Understanding Between Counsel That no Appeal Will be Taken.

CLEVELAND, March 24.—Josiah V. Kirby, convicted former head of the Cleveland Discount company, was sentenced to serve seven and one-half years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., and to pay fines aggregating $7,000 by Judge John M. Killitts today in federal court.

Kirby was convicted January 30 on 14 counts of using the mails to defraud after four trials in the Cuyahoga county common pleas court and two in federal court.

The sentence was passed after Judge Killitts had overruled a motion for a new trial by Attorney Luther Day, counsel for Kirby, and with the understanding between Day and United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein that no further appeal would be taken.

Released on $35,000 Bond.
Kirby was later released on bonds aggregating $35,000. Of this amount $25,000 was posted to secure Kirby's liberty until June 14, when he is to face trial on two indictments charging him with approaching prospective jurors in his trials. Kirby was arraigned on these charges just before sentence was passed on him. He pleaded not guilty to both indictments and gave $10,000 bond to assure his presence on June 14, the date set by Judge Killitts to try the cases.

Judge Killitts' opinion overruling Day's motion for a new trial comprised 53 closely typed pages in which he commented at great length on the case.

Kirby was fined $500 on each of the 14 counts and sentenced to two years and a half on each, the first three sentences to run concurrently.

Bernstein Gets Credit.
United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein was given chief credit today for the conviction of Kirby, whose liberty was finally forfeited to the government after six tempestuous trials, the first one of which took place in California. Kirby was acquitted there of charges of violating the California blue sky law.

Kirby's difficulties with the law grew out of operation of the $30,000 Cleveland Discount company, founded by him in 1923. Following his California acquittal, he was (Continued on Page Eight.)

Bonuses Awarded Four Freedom Oil Truck Drivers Here

Four motor vehicle drivers, employed by the Freedom Oil Works company at its East Liverpool plant, who reported no accidents during 1925, have been rewarded with bonuses and medals.

They are: Oral H. Wingett, Henry M. Foster, W. A. Horger and Pearl H. Shreeve. The cash bonus of $20 is furnished by the company, while the safe drivers' medal is furnished through the courtesy of the Ocean Accident and Guarantee corporation, of Pittsburgh. It contains the name of the holder and the year in which it was presented.

The movement to reward employees who figure in no accidents during the year was first launched in 1922 in a safety first drive. Only 25 men were honored then. Approximately 100 employees were winner of the reward during 1925.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Willis J. Harker, who died one year ago.

Death called him and he passed away. Life took its flight, his form was clay. No earthly power, alas, could save. 'Tis God that takes, 'twas Him who gave.

He called him from this world of pain. From losses to eternal gain; He called him at the close of even' To wait in peace, to dwell in Heaven.

But here his loss we deeply mourn. On sorrow's wing our hopes are borne. The future with its prospect bright, Is closed to us with shades of night.

Sleep on, dear one, we love thee still. Tho' sorrow doth our bosoms fill, We feel so lonely since thou art gone. We cannot help but weep and mourn. A FRIEND.

COLLEGE POSTS TO BE FILLED

Three Instructors at Bethany College Plan
to Retire.

According to an official statement from President Cloyd Goodnight of Bethany college there will be only a few changes in the faculty next year. Vista Clayton, assistant professor of English; Erna Lohmann, assistant professor of modern languages, and Freda Kautz, instructor in clothing and textiles, have resigned. No announcement has been made as yet as to their successors.

It is probable that there will be a slight change in the department arrangement with the new instructors. The modern language department will probably be divided into a department of Romance languages, which will be headed by Professor P. M. Mahaffey, now head of the modern language department, and a department of Germanic Language and Literature. The head of the Germanic department has not been chosen as yet. The work in the English department will be divided. Professor A. B. Bourne will continue her work in English Literature and drama, but the work in American Literature will be given over to another professor who will also have charge of freshman composition.

GOVERNOR GORE ORDERS SURVEY

A survey of all departments of the state government, going into the pay of employees, the methods of handling special funds and any balances to be returned to the treasury from appropriations was instituted yesterday. Gov. Gore in letters to each of the department heads asked for a report on these subjects and announced that on these reports he would have recommendations to the legislature for measures of administration efficiency.

Capt. Porter, U.S. Secret Service World Figure, To Quit At 80

Given Job as Chicago
Chief as Reward for
Clever Detective Work
While Illinois Sheriff.

CHICAGO — When Captain Thomas Porter steps out as chief of the Chicago district of the United States Secret Service on June 1, ten days after he reaches the age of 80, the most picturesque figure in the service of recent years, if not of all time, will have left it.

Captain Porter—the title was given him by a reporter who insisted he must have some rank—was a country sheriff in Illinois forty years ago when some clever detective work on his part resulted in an invitation to join the Secret Service. Within a year he was given his present job as Chicago chief.

Nine chiefs have come and gone with never a thought of disturbing him in his position. Time and again he has announced his approaching retirement, but always when the date he himself has set rolls around he has forgotten it. Sixteen years ago subordinates bought him a big rocker "to rest in" after his intended retirement, but he has been too busy to put it to the use they intended.

Not a Thrill.
"What a thrilling life you must have led as a Secret Service man," some one said to him once.

"Not particularly," said the captain. "I joined up in the expectation I would be and I've been disappointed." Yet he possesses 16 notebooks, each containing the names of a hundred men, counterfeiters and bad-money passers he has been instrumental in convicting and many of whom he arrested himself. Incidentally he holds the record for the largest single haul of counterfeiters—$545,000.

"None of those I nabbed ever gave me a fight," he says regretfully. "You see, I never spoke a cross word to one of them and none ever spoke a cross word to me, so I never hurt anyone or got hurt myself."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, at bed time.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Only once, so far as he remembers, did Captain Porter ever fire his big service revolver. That was when he accidentally pulled the trigger and the bullet, after puncturing him in the leg, lodged in the tender part of a scrubwoman's anatomy as she knelt at work nearby.

Doesn't Look the Part.

Perhaps the fact that Captain Porter does not look the part of a detective or man-catcher has helped him in his work. He delights in telling the story of one notorious counterfeiter he caught, a man who was regarded as dangerous and to be taken only at the pistol's point. Captain Porter walked into the fellow's room one night and engaged him in conversation. The counterfeiter was extremely respectful and agreeable. Finally—

"I guess I'll have to put you under arrest, old fellow," said the captain.

"I'm Porter of the secret service."

The counterfeiter was too amazed to reach for his gun.

"What! You're Porter! You're a dick! Hell, I thought you were a parson."

Fellow-workers say that it's the veteran's ingenuity and refusal to be turned aside from the trail that made him such a success. The reader may judge somewhat from the following:

Spent Night in Trees.

In 1889 he spent virtually every night for a month—incidentally it was winter, too—perched in a tree in Lincoln park, Chicago, watching a suspect in a rooming house across the street with field glasses while he experimented with counterfeit dollars. When he went in for making and passing them Captain Porter nabbed him.

A short time after that he was gone for 13 months, working as a helper on a peddler's wagon with two brothers who were under suspicion. They traveled all over the middle west and while the captain was sure they were passing counterfeit banknotes it was a year before he got into their confidence at all and another month before he got the evidence that justified arresting them.

Another man he kept under surveillance 11 years, certain that he was responsible for bogus coins which frequently made their appearance in the underworld in large quantities. Then one day the captain sprang the trap on him that had been waiting all those years and caught him with the goods on.

Big German Merchants To Visit This Country; Study American Stores

BERLIN.—Benefit for German department store business is expected from a trip to the United States of about thirty prominent department store managers from all Germany, scheduled for Easter time.

Detailed plans for the trip have been drafted by a committee of these managers in cooperation and with assistance of the American Embassy here. It is said that United States authorities show great interest in the plan and have promised to supply guides and interpreters so as to make the trip a full success.

It is planned that the party will stay a month in New York and afterwards visit several other cities including Philadelphia, Chicago, and Detroit. The managers plan to reorganize the German stores on the basis of their experiences gathered in the States.

Federal Judge's Pay

Opposition to raising the pay of the federal judiciary has arisen in the house rules committee. The proposed measure would raise the salary of the chief justice of the United States from $15,000 a year to $20,000; of the associate justices of the supreme court from $14,000 to $20,000; of district judges from $7,500 to $12,500 and of circuit judges from $8,500 to $15,000.

Some members of the house say they "don't see any reason why judges should be paid any more than congressmen." It is answered that the judges can hardly live decently on their present salaries, according to the standard expected of them; that it is beneath the dignity of the United States of America to be stingy with such distinguished officials; and that any man fit for such a position could make a great deal more in private practice.

Honor is supposed to be partial recompense in such positions. Nevertheless a judge must live, and may be sensitive about the manner of his living.

If federal judges are not paid any more than congressmen, one of these times Uncle Sam may find that he isn't getting any better judges than he is congressmen.

Tragedies Of Progress

"The dwellers in a region frequented by tourists," says the Literary Digest, "are often the last persons to understand why these gentry should come their way. It is more or less of a mystery to them. They thankfully receive whatever profits accrue, but they sometimes ignorantly do that which dries up the stream of wealth at its source.

"If they live on the seashore, they strew the beaches with garbage; if in the hills, they ruthlessly destroy the timber. Cutting down trees is, in fact, one of their pet performances."

The text of this sermon is the destruction of a lovely colonnade of trees along a road leading from Daytona, Fla., to New Smyrna. There was a wonderful forest-arched roadway, made up of cathedral-like live oaks more than 100 years old, festooned with delicate Spanish moss and making a scene of beauty never forgotten by travelers passing through. All that has been cut down mercilessly in "improving the road."

More automobiles may pass along that route now, purely as a matter of transportation—to get from some place to some other place—but will any of them carry away any lovely memories of that road, and want to come that way again?

How many other localities are likewise destroying, in the name of progress and efficiency, that which constitutes their chief charm for visitors and possibly their chief source of wealth?

A Flowerless Spring

Spring brings wildflowers. Wildflowers bring beauty and joy. Unfortunately they also bring vandals. Into the woods and country meadows troop a host of children and a considerable number of adults. In some places, where the need and pleasure of conservation have been well taught, these hosts enter the woods only to behold the loveliness. They rejoice in every different bloom they see, in the springtime fragrance of moist earth and buds and flowers.

In other communities, less well taught, less thoughtful, the hosts come only for destruction. They tear branches from lovely trees and shrubs, they trample on new growing things, they pick basketsful of flowers which are later thrown away because they quickly wither.

It is hard to teach these marauders that there is more satisfaction to be had from enjoyment without destruction. And the saddest thing about this unlearned lesson is that the destructiveness soon results in diminished beauty, in flowerless woods. Imagine the sadness of a spring with no wildflowers!

Jail Before Gallows

Gerald Chapman, gentlemanly murderer and "master criminal," sentenced to be hanged April 6, seeks to delay justice again by another appeal to a federal judge in Connecticut. He demands a writ of habeas corpus, already refused him by the supreme court of the United States on another pretext.

Chapman's present contention is that he has also been sentenced to serve a term in Atlanta for mail robbery, and that he has a right to serve that term before he is hanged.

No prisoner need be blamed for grasping at a straw to prolong his life, even if he has made as poor use of that life as Chapman has. Yet the public is sickened by such brazen efforts, on the part of proved criminals, to make fools of the courts.

Whatever the law may say, common sense says that Chapman's contention is frivolous. The prosecution might reply that he should be hanged first and serve his prison sentence afterwards if he wants to.

Clemenceau was "Father Victory" and Briand tries to be "Father Peace." His success would make him equally great, for there can be no victory without peace.

After listening to a Chinese orchestra, you have a sort of suspicion where jazz really came from.

Mussolini says "Pan-Germanism" is menacing the world. Germany will reply that Mussolinism is menacing the world.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

To Lessen Crossing Accidents.
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24.—A young man of Washington believes that he has solved the problem of street intersection accidents. At least he thinks that he has invented a device which if generally adopted will do away with much of the indecision displayed by drivers reaching a street intersection at the same time. It has been estimated that over half of the automobile accidents during the year 1925 occurred at street crossings.

J. W. Cooper says that several years ago he wondered why some one didn't invent something whereby a driver might indicate to one coming from a cross street just what his intentions were. Of course during the day it is possible to signal the other driver to go ahead by waving the hand. At night, however, this is not feasible. Who has not seen two motorists either rush ahead, each thinking the other will stop, and finally crash, or both stop and stage an Alphonse and Gaston?

Mr. Cooper eventually became discouraged with the idea that some one else would conceive some device to do away with this street crossing annoyance and danger, and decided to undertake it himself.

That was nearly three years ago and since that time he has given the matter more or less thought. This winter he decided seriously to work on the idea and the result is a signaling device which may be used on the front of the car.

The device consists of either a disc or cylinder which may be made of some nickel-plated metal. It is, of course, against the law to have any light show on the front of the car, other than the headlights. Therefore, the lights used on this signaling device must glow only from the sides. There is a red light which burns constantly while the car is in normal motion. A car coming from the east or west, meeting one coming from the north or south, would of course stop when the driver saw the latter's red light burning. There could be no possible doubt in his mind as to what the other driver intended doing.

Misunderstanding Not Possible.
As soon as the driver applies his brakes and pushes out his clutch, the red light automatically goes off and a green one comes on. The driver coming from the other street then knows that he is safe in going ahead. Mr. Cooper says that the change is instantaneous with the slowing down of the car so that there could be no possible misunderstanding of the driver's intention.

Under the first patent taken out, this signaling device was operated mechanically. That is, there was a revolving cylinder which showed a red light while the car was running, and when slowing down this went out of sight and the green one came into view. Under the second patent it is operated electrically, the red light being automatically switched off when the green one comes on.

While Mr. Cooper's invention has not yet been placed on the market, he has been using a model on his car for several months and it has operated without a hitch. It has created considerable interest among automobile drivers of Washington, and has been termed an excellent idea by traffic experts.

As Mr. Martin once said, "One good story brings on another," so apparently does one idea bring on another. In the first place Mr. Cooper has felt that the logical place for such a device as his would be on the radiator, which position on most cars is occupied by the motometer. The importance of a motometer is generally acknowledged, and therefore it is extremely unlikely that the public would even consider anything which would necessitate doing away with it.

Thus was a problem raised, the only solution of which appeared to be a combination of motometer and light signal. If any of the motometers now patented were used, it would necessitate the payment of royalties to the owners of the patents. In turn this would probably mean that the new device must sell at a higher price. Altogether the inventor was not inclined to include some one else's idea with his if it could possibly be avoided. The only thing to be done was to work out an entirely new one.

Made Visible at Night.
The motometers in use at present are not visible at night from the driver's seat, and Mr. Cooper was of the opinion that while he was designing one to meet his uses, in connection with the signal system, it would be a good thing to make one that might be seen as clearly at night as in the day time.

Since he has not as yet taken out a patent in this new idea, it is not possible to give a definite description of how it will work. Suffice it to say that it will probably take the form of a triangular piece of red glass, placed in the center of the signal device. As the engine grows hotter and hotter the glass will become brighter and brighter.

There have been certain signal lights used to indicate to drivers behind whether a car is going ahead or going to stop, but a search through the files of the Patent Office has revealed nothing that has been used for signaling drivers at street intersections.

It has been said that certain street car companies are contemplating the use of signaling lights at street intersections. If this is done the public will soon become familiar with such a system.

There will doubtless be those who will contend that such a signal is unnecessary. They will say that a man who knows the traffic regulations will know when he has the right of way and when he has not. One driver of long experience expresses the opinion that such a thing would be of no help to him. He says that he simply is careful to slow down at corners and to watch the approaching driver. He asserts that the only time he is surprised is when the driver of the other car does what is correct—he is never surprised when the other man pays no heed to the customary traffic regulations. This, of course, is pretty hard on automobile drivers as a class.

Mr. Cooper, as well as a number of others interested in automobiles, feels that a device such as his would be of material assistance to those drivers who are neither sure of themselves nor of their fellow.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 24.—Ten years ago New York is said to have had 1,000 recognized pickpockets. Police vigilance and public wariness have thinned the ranks to a comparative handful of professionals. Wrist pockets for wallets added to the hazards.

Gambler, who used to be prize prey of daps because they carried big sums for emergencies, now carry their surplus in belts around their waists. The subway was the most fertile field in the metropolis for the army of leather litters. The compactness of the crowd, the swaying and sudden stop of trains, aided agile fingers.

They usually worked in pairs. A victim would suddenly find his hat jammed over his eyes and as he turned to vent his wrath and receive the suave apology, the confederate would be removing the scarf pin, wallet or watch. The game grew too common. Subway travelers suddenly jostled learned instinctively to clap their hand to their most valuable possession and often they found the hand of the thief at work. The police were not needed. A wrathful and oft-looted crowd attended to the culprit with well placed punches and kicks.

The pickpocket, in police parlance, is a "rat," the lowest epithet of the underworld. The dip, the police say, is invariably in the type who lives off women and primes himself for his forays with drink or drugs. Most of the plunder went for silk shirt, dorgy togger and playing the races. Crooks who risked their lives in pursuit of crime—such as safe blowers—despised the pickpockets and would not frequent places where they hung out.

One of the shrewdest of pickpockets, who saw the game wasn't worth the risk, now acts as an entertainer at private parties. As a rule a victim is selected with the rest of the guests in on the secret. The pickpocket takes his valuables during the evening and in the end after the victim has worried over the loss awhile, they are returned.

Chuck Connors, the mayor of Chinatown, used to tell a story to illustrate the contempt of the daring crook for the pickpocket. The crook dropped into a famous grocery on the Bowery. As he stood at the bar a pickpocket came up and stood nearby. The crook appraised him coldly, and then calling to a bleary-eyed tatterdemon against the wall, jerked a finger toward the dip and said: "Come here, bum, and put a louse on him to give him a little class."

The tiny New York perfume salons—modeled after those in Paris—seem to grow in grandeur. They lodge in the most expensive and luxurious edifices in town. One fashions individual perfumes blended to personality, and not to be duplicated, at approximately $3 a drop. Still another accepts only "recommended" patrons. One society leader in a fashion weekly admits spending $5,000 a year for various blends, regarding it as quite an essential of the modern toilet. At a recent Tiffanyish dinner the favors for the ladies were individual perfumes in black bottles which silhouetted the recipient's profile. The expense was said to be $400 a bottle.

Men's perfume ablutions were once confined to a barber's slight cologne scent, which they feigned to abhor. Those days are gone. Sniff them in any theatre or cafe! Men are buying

SHUBERT SHOW HERE TONIGHT

"Student Prince" Opens
Two-day Engagement
at Ceramic.

"The Student Prince," which is booked for an engagement of two days at the Ceramic theatre, beginning tonight, has made theatrical history in New York, where it is now in the second season at the Ambassador theatre. For length of run and size of attendance, it is expected to outdo all other musical attractions ever shown in America. The play comes here with a cast of 108, which includes a student male chorus of 60 voices. The Messrs. Shubert, producers of "The Student Prince," emphasizes the fact that nothing has been slighted or omitted from the production to be seen here, that it equals in every respect, size of cast, quality of players, size and quality of chorus and magnificence of scenic investiture, the company now in New York.

The book and lyrics were written by Dorothy Donnelly, the music by Sigmund Romberg, both of whom

Thin Run-Down People Gain Needed Weight

Men and women whose natural strength doesn't equal the demands of everyday life—whose every effort is a drag—should take Coco Cod to build up lagging strength and energy—to add good, healthy weight, to give them a new lease on life and happiness.

Coco Cod is nature's effective tonic and strength-builder, just pure cod liver oil, with the health vitamins from eggs, yeast, spinach and lettuce—flavored with cocoa to make it pleasant to take.

Coco Cod is not merely a temporary stimulant, it is a nutritive system-builder of unequalled effectiveness. Harry S. Orr, Cincinnati, writes: "I was in a run-down condition and took three bottles of Coco Cod, which helped me very much—so much that I have advised friends to take it, and they did so with good results."

Physicians everywhere recommend Coco Cod for convalescents, for nursing or over-taxed mothers, for its wonderful results in the treatment of anemia, malnutrition, or weak, underweight conditions in young or old. Begin today—take Coco Cod for health. All druggists.—Advertisement.

DEATH CLAIMS TORONTO MAYOR

T. H. Montgomery Succumbs at Battle Creek, Michigan.

Thomas H. Montgomery, mayor of Toronto, died yesterday at Battle Creek, Mich., where he has been a patient since the first of the year. Toronto's city hall bell was tolled and the city flag half-masted at the news of the chief executive's death. Montgomery, at the age of 35 years, became mayor of Toronto for the second time. In the election last fall, he had been named by the greatest majority ever given a candidate in Toronto. On January 8, following a short illness, he went to Battle Creek, after making his appointments. At that time his illness was not considered serious. Edward S. Stewart, president of Toronto council, acting mayor during Montgomery's illness, was sworn in as mayor yesterday afternoon. The late mayor is survived by one sister, Mrs. John W. Porter. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Montgomery, deceased. He attended Toronto schools and graduated from a southern university. For several years he practiced law in Steubenville. He was a veteran of the World war, a member of the American Legion, the Masons, the Elks, and the First Methodist Episcopal church. Funeral arrangements are incomplete, pending arrival of the body in Toronto.

MISS MCSWEENEY BRIDGE HOSTESS

Miss Julia McSweeney was hostess to members of the Tuesday Bridge club last evening at her home in Center street. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations and appointments. Prizes were awarded Miss Thelma Williamson and Miss Mabel Connell. At the close of the affair a two-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Margaret, and Miss Irene Zwickler. Miss Dolores O'Grady was a club guest.

JIMMY SMITH ON A. B. C. LANES

Former Match Game Champ With Thomo Bros. Squad.

TOLEDO, O., March 24.—Jimmy Smith, former world's champion match-game bowler, will be the feature attraction in the five-men event of the American bowling congress tournament here tonight. He is to roll with the Thoma Brothers' five, in whose number is Clarence Thoma, one time A. B. C. doubles champion. The team rolls on the mid-night shift on alleys 9 and 10. Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, Troy, Brandon, Benton Harbor, St. Louis, Schenectady, Dayton, Beaver, Akron, Chicago, Monroe, Oshkosh, Massillon, Erie, Rochester and Lima are cities having teams slated for rolling tonight.

They have this consolation. There were but half a dozen teams of 56 rolling last night able to connect with the wood for prize-money counts. Thus there is plenty of paying timber left. Park Hotel, Madison, proved the only outfit able to roll in the class, its total being 2,815.

Maybe it was the afternoon working of Eddie Votel, of Braddock, in rolling 731 for first in the singles, or it might have been the 1,221 struck in by a Buffalo pair, Ernest and Egan, for second in the doubles, that fixed the evening rolling:

Sand Lots Send Up Diamond Stars; City Youths Are Turning to Golf

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—America's baseball stars are coming from the small towns. Playing of golf by youngsters in the big cities is cutting short "sand lot" material from the centers of population. These are the opinions of Bill McKechnie, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, world's champions, who are in Los Angeles for a series of games with Pacific Coast league teams. "Baseball is more generally played now by the small boy in the country and little towns," the Pirate pilot declared. "In the cities, youngsters are playing golf and there are so many forms of amusement for the big town boy that he does not find much time for baseball."

"Consequently our diamond stars are coming from the 'sticks' and backwoods." A glance at the official roster of the world's champions proves the statement. Of the more than 30 players in the Pirates' training camp this spring less than one-third had their homes in the larger cities of the country. The roster showed:

Paroled Convict Identified As Leader of $80,000 Hold-Up

"Three-fingered" White, paroled convict, under arrest for the murder of Chicago Policeman, Accused of International Harvester Robbery.

CHICAGO, March 24.—William J. "Three-fingered" White, paroled convict, under arrest for the murder of a Forst park policeman, was identified today as the leader of the bandit gang that held up the International Harvester company March 5, and escaped with a payroll of $80,000.

White is believed to be the "superbandit" who has engineered a series of daring holdups and bank robberies in this district during the past few months. The cashier of McVicker's theatre viewed him today and partially identified him as the gloved bandit who robbed him of $10,000 on January 2.

He is also said to answer the description of the leader of the gang who robbed the McHenry State bank last October of $18,000. Police believe they can connect White with robberies, the combined loot of which will total $500,000.

White was trapped and captured in a roadhouse in Evergreen Park yesterday by a squad of detectives led by Capt. Schoemaker and Capt. John Stego.

Favorite Likeness of Murder Victim in Jake Nesbitt's Cell

TROY, March 24.—The confessed murderer of his wife, Jacob Nesbitt today has his favorite likeness in his cell at the county jail for company.

Nesbitt today asked Sheriff Spillman to go to the Ridge avenue home and secure a portrait of Mrs. Frances Drake Nesbitt, who was murdered February 19.

The sheriff returned the photograph, showing Mrs. Nesbitt in smiling attire, to the husband, who hung it opposite his cot in his cell.

OFFERS MILLION FOR GEN. FENG

Record Price on Head of Chinese Troop Leader.

LONDON, March 24.—A million dollars has been offered for the head of General Feng Yu-Hsiang, former leader of the Chinese national army, by the governor of the province of Shantung, a dispatch from Peking said today.

Feng is reported to have arrived in Urga, the capital of Mongolia.

A report that Feng was on his way to Germany was circulated after Tientsin fell into the hands of the allied generals, Wu-Pei-Fu and Chang Tso-Lin.

The official statement that General Feng Yuh Slang has gone to Urga is scouted and it is believed that he will shortly make his appearance at Kalgan for a new stroke against the enemy.

There is a general air of apprehension in Peking and the members of the diplomatic corps are in frequent conference.

suggests using public moneys to solve the housing problem for the poor, providing decent living quarters at reasonable rentals, that is denounced by indignant landlords as "rank socialism."

THE Rev. Dr. Thomas, president of Rutgers university, says all our progress is due to religion—"This nation forged ahead through its faith in God. Science in education have been negligible factors in the progress of America."

The founder of Christianity said: "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's." He would have rendered unto science and education all credit due to science and education. The radio carrying sermons, including the marvelous Sermon on the Mount, to millions unseen by the speaker, would have interested him, and the modern methods of protecting mothers and prolonging the lives of children would have delighted the heart of the great defender of children and women.

Religion is the greatest thing in the world because it deals with the Infinite. Science and education are important also.

AN UNPLEASANT story of slave labor comes from Alabama. The state is alleged to have made a profit of more than half a million dollars in 1925 by putting convicts to work in the mines as slaves, under conditions of dreadful cruelty.

Conditions are not as bad as they have been formerly, however; not as bad as when English laborers were branded with a red-hot iron on the cheek if they sought work outside of their own parish; not as bad as when men sent to the mines by Peter the Great lived and died chained to their wheelbarrows.

SAFETY FIRST COMMITTEE TO MEET MARCH 31

Pastors, Labor and Civic Organizations to Cooperate.

CUT DEATH TOLL

Plan Campaign of Education Among Auto Drivers.

Initial meeting of a joint committee named to promote a "Safety first" campaign here, will be held in municipal court headquarters, Fourth and Market streets, Wednesday evening, March 31.

Call for the session was issued today by Albert McLain, chairman of the Lions' club safety committee, which is sponsoring the movement. Committees have been appointed by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Columbiana County Motor club, East Liverpool Ministerial association, Trades and Labor council and Chamber of Commerce.

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, Chief of Police McDermott, Service-Safety Director J. M. Moore, President of Council N. P. Kerr, Garry Willis, superintendent of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company; E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club, and representatives of the press have also been invited to attend. Mayor Ralph Benedum will preside.

The purpose of the committee is to wage a campaign of education among automobile drivers, street car operators and pedestrians in order to reduce traffic accidents to a minimum.

PEOPLE'S ARMY DEFENDS PEKIN

Great Battle at City Walls is Expected.

PEKIN, March 24.—The people's army has apparently decided to defend Peking, and possibilities of a great battle at the city walls are foreseen.

After plans for evacuation had been made, there has been a sudden change in tactics.

Forces of the people's army, withdrawn from Tientsin, is now being drafted to defend the capital.

Science Claims Victory

Dr. H. T. Barnes, a Montreal professor, admitted today that the explosive was responsible for dislodging the ice and starting it down the river before the gorges above here could pile up against the local ice, creating a much more serious situation.

River is Receding.
Within a few minutes after the great gorge moved out the river fell three feet and continued receding. Meantime, the water in Oil creek, tributary of the Allegheny, was dropping, and as rapidly the flood waters left the city's business section.

There was little fear that another flood situation would result here from the movement of Kinzua gorge, 60 miles up the river. This gorge moved 100 feet yesterday, but became jammed in the neck of the river again.

By the time the Kinzua ice reaches here it will be disintegrated to a point where there will be no danger of it jamming, according to the belief expressed by experts.

Thermite Saves Oil City.
In all quarters it was agreed the continual discharge of thermite in the river yesterday when there was sufficient pressure behind the gorge here to move it once it was dislodged, was responsible for relieving Oil City of the worst flood in many years.

Throughout the day crews under the direction of Dr. Barnes plodded through rain and snow to place charges of the explosive and set them off. By night they had accomplished the end they sought and with a boom of cracking ice, the gorge passed out without further damage.

Many business houses were reopened today, but it will require some time to put others in condition. The entire populace was busy repairing the damage of the flood, estimated at close to a million dollars.

Kinzua Faces Flood.
KINZUA, Pa., March 24.—With high water within 100 feet of the Methodist church, this village today faced a flood similar to that of eight years ago when much damage was done.

About a third of the Kinzua gorge has moved out, cutting a new river channel through fields, but more than twice as much ice as that which went out is lodged for two miles along Kinzua.

All residents of Gawayo village have taken refuge in the Cornplanter Indian reservation. Water now laps against all houses on the northside of the railroad tracks in Kinzua.

C. G. Grove, Pennsylvania railroad supervisor in charge of the river territory, said the railroad at present is not suffering from the high water, although more ice came through the inundated field this morning.

Zanesville School Chief's Resignation Will be Accepted

ZANESVILLE, Mar. 24.—It is probable that the board of education will accept the resignation of Superintendent E. C. Kirkendall, effective at the end of the school year. Kirkendall made his resignation optional with the board, effective either at once or on August 28.

In the meantime the basketball team is to travel to the Chicago tournament in a special pullman car accompanied by a score of rooters. There will be fifteen in the official party leaving here Sunday night. Probate Judge Clarence Graham is to go along as the official chaperone. The team has been compelled to decline invitations to a series of banquets and dinners arranged in its honor by boosters and gifts of balls and uniforms are piling up on them. Boosters have raised $800 to pay the expenses of the team.

"The Duke," Alleged Member of "Night Club Gang," Held

NEW YORK, March 24.—William J. Unkelback, known as "The Duke," is in the hands of the police today, charged with being the last important member of the Whittemore "Night Club" gang.

Unkelback is the ninth member of the gang, regarded as the most vicious and dangerous crook organization ever to be controlled by the New York authorities, to be arrested. He was captured in his apartment here as he lay on a bed reading newspapers detailing the indictment and cross-examination of Richard Reese Whittemore, "the Candy Kid," his wife, Mrs. Margaret Whittemore, known as "the Tiger Girl," and other members of the gang.

Hospital authorities say the girl was brought there by a man and the police are searching for him in an effort to clear up the mystery of why the poison was taken.

Fremont Man Faces Trial for Double Murder on Farm

FREMONT, March 24.—The case of William Clark, 22, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hoffman on February 7, when they caught him ransacking their farm home, was to go to the jury this afternoon.

Both prosecution and defense attorneys completed their arguments today following a stirring court scene yesterday in which jurors wept as Defense Attorney Ben H. Dewey pictured the defendant as the "Oliver Twist of the southland who learned to make whisky at the feet of a moonshiner Fagan."

Clark admitted firing two shots, but denied he planned to kill the Hoffmans.

FOUR MEN HELD IN OHIO MURDER

RAVENNA, March 24.—Four men were in custody here today in connection with the slaying of Tony Fazazzo, 35, and Sheriff Joseph Jones of Portage county expressed the belief that the murder mystery would be cleared in a few hours.

The four suspects, all Italians, are members of an alleged bootlegging ring, Sheriff Jones said. Fazazzo was also a member of this ring, in the belief of the sheriff.

"I believe Fazazzo had trouble with the 'gang' to which he belonged and this led to his murder," Sheriff Jones said.

CHICAGO MEN LINKED WITH TAYLOR MURDER

Arrests Loom in Killing of Motion Picture Director.

NET TIGHTENS

Los Angeles Attorney Predicts Sensation in Hollywood Case.

CHICAGO, Mar. 24.—Arrest of two Chicago men who are national figures in the moving picture industry, appeared imminent today following the announcement of District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles, that the mysterious murder of William Desmond Taylor had been solved. Taylor, a famous motion picture director, was shot to death in his Hollywood home four years ago.

The name of the murderer or murderers is known to Keyes and his assistant, Harold L. Davis, but it cannot be published until an arrest is made, Keyes said today. Keyes, who has been here since Monday working on the case, would not say whether the Chicago men are wanted as accomplices or merely as material witnesses.

Threads of evidence picked up in New York, Washington and Detroit by Keyes all led to Chicago. Here he found the keystone of his solution. He said men from his office and private detectives have had the two Chicago men under strict surveillance for four weeks.

As soon as he reaches Los Angeles, Keyes said, he will summon for questioning three women. They are: Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, mother of May Miles Mint, Miss Minter, herself, and Mabel Normand. While Miss Normand has been absolved of blame for any part in the crime itself, Keyes believes she has considerable information that he needs.

Know Slayer, Says Lawyer.
"We knew who killed Taylor four weeks ago," said Keyes after leaving a conference with State's Attorney Crowe, "but this trip was necessary for the purpose of getting corroborative evidence."

The nation will be shocked when the name of the slayer is announced, the Los Angeles official predicted. He said also that the naming of the conspirators who plotted the murder would create a further sensation. He hinted that these names have not hitherto been mentioned in connection with the case.

But the Chicago men now closely shadowed were in Hollywood at the time of the murder. They disappeared from the movie colony immediately after Taylor's body was discovered. One of them is said to have changed his name.

Through information obtained by shadowing these men and bits of dovetailing information picked up in the east, Keyes was able, he said, to establish definitely the identity of the slayer.

brought to trial in Ohio, at Cleveland and Delaware, on charges growing out of stock selling activities. In each of these trials Kirby won out.

Jury Tampering Charged.
The federal authorities then brought charges against Kirby for using the mails to defraud. He went on trial in federal court here last December but the jury disagreed. In a second trial in federal court Kirby was convicted on January 30, on 14 counts of using the mails to defraud.

While Kirby was in jail, bond having been denied him pending sentence, the federal grand jury probing alleged tampering with the juries that tried him, indicted him twice in connection with the tampering charge. The jury also indicted Benjamin Williamson, former California and Cleveland newspaperman; Jesse Ladow, Mansfield; John Brill, Cleveland; James F. Donovan, Mansfield, and Attorney William R. Irvin, of Akron, in connection with the alleged jury tampering.

American Mutual Indemnity Company Named In Court Suit

Petition to Take Over Mansfield Insurance Corporation Filed at Columbus by State Office.

COLUMBUS, March 24.—Franklin county appellate court has fixed April 8 as hearing day on a petition filed by Harry L. Conn, state superintendent of insurance, seeking authority to take over and operate the Great American Mutual Indemnity company, Mansfield. Conn charged that the company made a false financial statement.

At Conn's request, the appellate judges granted a temporary injunction, restraining 24 banks in Ohio from paying out any of the company's funds. Conn charged that the company improperly listed in its assets. Common Pleas Judge Rogers is to conduct a hearing Thursday in regard to a suit filed by Nathan C. Hirsch, a stockholder in the company, asking for appointment of a receiver for the company.

Acting on behalf of all stockholders, Hirsch told the court that due to many unpaid claims, the company was involved in considerable litigation which, if decided against the company, would make it insolvent.

The company, according to Hirsch, has 5,000 stockholders, incorporated in 1917. It issues liability, steam boiler, health, automobile accident, fire and theft insurance.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 24.—Bearish traders in the stock market followed up their successes in Tuesday's closing reaction with an aggressive "drive" against the high-priced industrial stocks in the early trading today. The market was deluged with selling orders in General Electric, United States Steel, Woolworth, Hudson Motor and a score or more of the industrial leaders, and values quickly melted under the indifferent buying demand which these selling orders encountered.

Call money renewals were posted at 4 1/2 per cent. French francs dipped to 3.48 1/2, the lowest since March, 1924.

plete details of the respective competitions. Among the advantages daily reading of the paper will give are:

First—Pupils, teachers and parents will learn the scope of this spelling bee.

Second—The more difficult words given out in the preliminary contests will be published. By following the paper daily pupils will be kept in close touch with the tongue twisters which they may be called upon to spell.

Third—Solid lists of words will be published from each of the district meetings. There will probably be several of these district meets. To miss these lists might result in defeat in the finals.

Why the Bee?
From far and wide comes the cry for better spellers. Commercial school heads complain about students who enroll in their schools. They say too much time must be spent in teaching them the rudiments of spelling, thus using up the time which should be given to more advanced and technical studies.

Professional men in turn complain that stenographers and clerks cannot spell. Business men bewail the fact that the "day of the old fashioned speller" has passed. They charge that carelessness in spelling adds to the duties of department heads who must check all work carefully not alone for technical errors but the orthography.

Federal Road Funds Available Only For 18-Foot Highways

A ruling by the federal highway department that hereafter federal road funds will be available only for construction of 18-foot highways, official notice of which has just been received by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk, has been transmitted to the county commissioners.

This ruling means that where federal aid is appropriated for improved highway construction in this county, and present plans call for a 16-foot road, the width of such road has to be extended one foot on either side. Hereafter it will cost the county more money for road construction than in the past, it being pointed out that where an 18-foot road is to be built instead of a 16-foot road, more square yards in the 18-foot road than in the 16-foot highway.

The first new Columbiana county road to be hit by this new federal ruling is that section of the Wellsville-Salineville road within the corporate limits of Salineville, the contract for this half-mile improvement having been awarded Lewis & Copeland of Lima, by the state highway department last week. This piece of road will be 18-feet wide, while all other sections of this road in Washington and Yellow Creek township have been built to a width of 16 feet.

It has been pointed out, however, that the new federal ruling has to do with only those highways where there is a participation of federal aid. There are many other highways in the county that are to be built from funds provided by the recent bond issue where federal aid does not apply, and this means that the roads will be built to a width of 16 feet.

The county will be compelled to put more money into the small Salineville job than it anticipated, as the additional yardage of concrete to make an 18-foot width was anticipated by the state highway department when the contract was awarded.

"Take a 10-mile road improvement that is 18 feet wide and when we planned that a 16-foot road, you can see how much more it is going to cost the county under this federal ruling," Chairman Conrad Berg of the county commissioners declared today. "The matter summed up briefly, so far as federal funds are concerned is to 'take it or leave it,' but as in the construction of a number of county roads federal aid was anticipated, our hands have been tied to a great extent, and we are helpless to do anything else but to abide by the Washington ruling."

The fee for the last quarter of the year, effective as of October 1, will be 75 cents.

Color Photography New Film Surprise At The American

Blanche Sweet has just experienced a new screen thrill!

For the first time in her career before the camera, she has seen herself portrayed on the screen in color. And she laughingly admits she likes herself!

The color sequence is the opening episode of the George Fitzmaurice production, "His Supreme Moment," in which Miss Sweet is featured with Ronald Colman, and which is now at the American theatre. The entire incident has been photographed in real color by the improved Technicolor Process.

"After seeing oneself in black and white on the screen, the first glimpse of your own face in color comes as a distinct but rather pleasant shock," Miss Sweet said as she left the projection room after viewing the color rushes. "The effect is exactly like having suddenly acquired a new face and features."

Northern Ohio Traction Company Disposes of Canton Resort.

Declaring that the management of amusement parks and the running of electric railways do not belong in the same category of business, the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company has leased the Meyers Lake park property to the Meyers Lake Park Co., a Canton corporation, for 25 years. The new organization is headed by President Sinclair announced that the park will open early in May and that the former custom of a gate charge for automobile patrons will be done away with this year. Admission to the park will be free and there will be plenty of free parking space. Vice President Rosenberry also said that extensive improvements would be made to the property in the near future, involving approximately $150,000 in expenditures.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED.

Bootleg Prices Are Soaring As Dry Forces Tighten Up

Pittsburgh, One of Country's Wettest Spots, is Gradually Drying up as Enforcement Unit Gets Busy.

PITTSBURGH.—Prices of bootleg liquor in the Pittsburgh district, admittedly one of the "wettest" spots in the officially dry United States, today were reported steadily increasing.

Only two factors normally send booze prices upward, those who profess to keep abreast with the trend of the illicit industry assert, namely, scarcity of supply and improved quality. They frankly declare the quality could be better.

While, of course, dispensers of the contraband beverage feel no qualms because of advancing liquor quotations, law enforcement organizations interpret the condition as an unquestionable indication that Frederick C. Baird's rule as federal prohibition administrator for the era is having the intended effect.

The administrator himself, from his unpretentious suite in the House building, smiled his satisfaction when informed of the "bull" market, and reiterated his belief that the Volstead law can be enforced.

Despite the fact that in the comparatively short time Gen. L. C. Andrews' present enforcement system has been in effect, Baird's success has won for his division the unofficial title of "banned" unit, it failed to turn the administrator's head.

Personally recommended for the job

by Elbert H. Gary, the steel magnate, Baird, a former "dollar-a-year man" and official of the late Andrew Carnegie's Bessemer railroad directs the drying up of the Pittsburgh area from a modestly furnished office. His name is not even lettered on the door.

Mahogany Not Necessary. Mahogany is not necessary in enforcing the law, Baird maintains. He places great confidence in the integrity of his carefully chosen field agents, and once they betray his confidence they are "through."

"Our results would indicate that the prohibition law can be enforced, if proper steps are taken in this direction," the administrator declared. "If after an honest effort is made to enforce the law, the task is found too great, then it is time to talk modification. But until such time, producers and consumers of liquor need expect no sympathy from this office."

Baird's practice of enlisting every individual in his enforcement organization, through distribution of "tip" cards, has met with condemnation and approval alike here.

Citizen's Duty. The administrator justifies the use of these cards, which anyone knowing of liquor law violations is requested to fill out and forward to the dry agents, as being a part of the citizen's duty to his country in upholding the law.

Opponents of the plan have characterized it as "spying on your neighbor" and "tattling." However, when Baird made a trip to Washington recently to explain the working of the plan to General Andrews, the prohibition czar is reported to have given it his unqualified approval and recommended it to other divisional dry chiefs.

Fifty persons, a majority of them high school students, narrowly escaped death when a Chicago tram car left the rails on a trestle and plunged 20 feet into Des Plaines river. No one was in danger of drowning, because of the river's low level at this time of the year. Photo shows the wreck.

UNKISSED COLLEGE SHEIK SUCCEUMS TO BARRAGE FROM PRETTY GIRLS' LIPS

BOSTON.—Arthur P. Tillinghast of Danielson, Conn., the unkissed Apollo of the Boston University seniors, has relinquished his claim to virgin lips.

This girlish student surrendered without a protest, not to one, but four of Boston's fairest and most lovely of the loveliest. And to make certain that the collegiate's kiss fast is definitely broken these four damsels, named Eve Wendt, Stella Bolton, Nina Penn and Violet Polls, just stepped up and planted kiss after kiss on the famous Boston unkissed lips.

Arthur didn't try to struggle. He succumbed in manly subservience to the will of the charming quartette.

One girl kissed him, then the next and then two at a time, each on a cheek and "Tillie," as he is popularly known among his classmates, didn't blink an eyelash.

This boy had never been kissed, at least, so he claimed, so the girls continued to convince him of the folly of stubbornness.

"It's simply great," Tillinghast agreed when he had a chance to catch his breath.

"Tillie" is an honor student at the College of Business Administration, and is one of the most popular members of his class. He has held many class offices and is a member of the "Skull," an honorary fraternity. Now he is called the college "sheik."

ANNUAL COST OF AUTOS HITS RECORD MARK

Statistics Show U. S. Motor Bill is Fourteen Billions.

SURVEY IS MADE

Production Proceeding at Rate of 4,000 Cars a Year.

NEW YORK.—It costs the population of the United States $14,000,000,000 a year to indulge its preferences for rubber-tired self-propelled vehicles, it was reported today by the Bureau of Internal Technology.

This stupendous figure was attained as the result of a survey of data accumulated by the Bureau, by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, by the Motors and Accessories Manufacturers' Association, by associations of the producers, insurance companies, labor organizations, gasoline and oil distributors.

The survey reveals that the automotive industry is now the biggest business in the United States. The nation's annual retail investment in automobiles is greater than the total value of our farm crops. It is more than twice as great as our total annual investment in the construction of new buildings.

4,000,000 a Year. "Production of automobiles now proceeds at the rate of 4,000,000 a year," the Bureau of Industrial Technology reports. "The average retail value, with accessories, is $1,000 per car. Not all of this represents American investment, however, for the value of automobile we export in a year has mounted to $250,000,000."

The last annual registration of automobiles was approximately 20,000,000. The Bureau of Industrial Technology concludes that it costs the average automobile owner somewhat over $700 a year to own and operate his car. But if each man, woman and child in the nation would help pay the bill, the annual pro rata assessment would be $117.

To demonstrate "where the automobile dollar goes," the Bureau made public the following table representing the annual national expenditure on investment and upkeep:

Cost of cars, accessories	$ 3,750,000,000
Insurance	300,000,000
Upkeep, repairs	2,000,000,000
Depreciation	2,500,000,000
Tires	618,000,000
Garaging	900,000,000
Interest on investment	500,000,000
Gasoline	1,200,000,000
Drivers' wages	1,600,000,000
Oil	300,000,000
Taxes	625,000,000
Total	$14,293,000,000

"The development of this great industry has brought correspondingly important traffic problems," the Bureau reports. "Every city is grappling with parking plans designed to relieve street and highway congestion and eliminate accidents. The widening of thoroughfares, the establishment of public garages and parking spaces, and the introduction of signal towers are among the means being employed."

"One of the counties direct results of the great development of the automobile industry is the enormous road-building program now in progress in this country, calling for the expenditure of about $1,000,000,000 a year, to say nothing of the enormous up-building of all suburban communities."

Following the organization of the long-promised sales syndicate of Polish iron producers, iron prices are to jump 13 per cent at once.

LOWELL SAYS CHURCH CROWDS FALL OFF AS BITTERNESS WANES

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The decrease in antipathy and bitterness between various religious sects is one explanation for the falling off in church attendance lately, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard College told the Harvard Graduate Schools Society, in addressing them at the Phillips Brooks House.

"Man is naturally a combative animal," said the Harvard executive, who added that the increased respect and cooperation manifest between the different Christian sects has reacted in a lessened interest in religion by church followers who now stay at home Sunday mornings.

By way of illustration, President Lowell remarked that if there were fewer intercollegiate football games attendance at the colleges would also fall off.

Harvard originally was founded to produce ministers, and at one time half of the graduates were ministers, the speaker said. Too few Harvard graduates, he continued realize the possibilities for a career in the ministry, chiefly because they believe they will meet only the limited few who belong to one religious sect. In concluding, he urged those present to go into the ministry.

Professor Holmes Impressed by Peace Congress in India

MADRAS.—Professor J. H. Holmes, professor of philosophy of Swarthmore college, Pa., and a leader of the peace movement in the United States, has arrived here after attending the recent peace congress at Cawnpore, where he met Gandhi and other Indian leaders.

Interviewed, Professor Holmes expressed admiration at the calm way in which the congress was held, saying that in America a similar congress would have been attended by many police.

Asked for his most striking impression of India, Professor Holmes said the thought it was the widespread poverty of the masses, and the extreme luxury of the few.

Stribling Risks Prestige In Battle With Jimmy Slattery

FACES BUFFALO PUG AT GARDEN

Must Send Foe Out Feet First or Accept Stigma of Moral Defeat.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Jimmy Slattery, established as a ranking heavyweight contender more or less by gratuity in consequence of the Miami washout, will try to make the best of an unnecessarily bad match at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. He will try to knock Jimmy Slattery flatter than a glass of stale beer within the prescribed limit of ten rounds but if he doesn't—good night, Tosti.

The prestige he gained by inference, without so much as raising his hands at Miami, will be more. To the writer's unenlightened way of thinking, this means that Stribling is going a bit out of his way to look for grief. He must send an opponent away, feet first, or accept the stigma of a moral defeat. There seems to be no excuse for making a match so implausible.

Slattery, in the first place, is no man's push-over. But he was knocked out eight months ago by Dave Shade, a legitimate welterweight at the time, and if Stribling neglects to repeat the gesture, he must face the odious comparison of falling where a welterweight succeeded.

In other words, he gains little if he succeeds and loses plenty if he fails. That sort of thing may be smart business but you can't prove it by the sharpshooters.

As Stribling stands today, without the doubtful aid of the Slattery match, he is a man who is willing to face Gene Tunney, rated No. 3 on Ricker's list and being heroically misnamed as Dempsey's next opponent. The Stribling-Tunney match failed to click at Miami but this only served to create a demand for it elsewhere and, even at this moment, the exhorters are merely awaiting the outcome of tomorrow night's business before sending the good word in on Tunney and Stribling.

But if the latter doesn't win in impressively, i. e., to wit and roughly speaking, by a knockout, the good word is likely to be very bad.

Slattery, of course, isn't the man he was twelve months ago nor is he even as good as he was as far back as two years ago when he outstayed Stribling in six rounds. But he still retains something of his old sparkle and speed and ten rounds often are all too short for a man who is trying to catch a human butterfly.

It might also be mentioned also that Stribling is not a first class puncher. It is conceivable that he might hit James on the jaw without either immediate or permanent results, in spite of the young man's fragile chin.

As a matter of record, it took a puncher like Berlenbach eleven rounds to do what Stribling will try to do in ten.

Glenna Shows Florida She's Ready To Grab British Women's Golf Title

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 23.—Glenna Collett is playing a brand of golf today that stamps her as ready to win the coveted British women's championship, equivalent to the world's championship, and an honor that eluded her last year.

Forced to play at her best to ward off defeat in the sectional tournaments this winter season, she has carried her game a bit farther, in the estimation of most critics, than it has ever been before.

No one who has watched her play all season feels that she was playing "over her head," as they say in sport parlance, when she started the golfing fraternity with her score of 79 at Ormond Beach a short time ago. This set a new record for the course.

Driving Miss Collett to this grade of golf was no less a star than Miss Mary K. Brown, who turned in a card of 83 for the course.

While this was the best record of the season for the powerful driving miss, with the exception of the beautifully placed green shots that enabled her to lower her score, her golf was the same steady, consistently deadly kind that has marked her play right along.

Last year the Providence, R. I., maid carried off most of the honors in Florida, won the national honors at home, and, after losing in the British tourney because she was not acclimated to the British air and links, Miss Collett went to France and won the French women's title for the second time.

Her play in the finals of the U. S. national tourney was rated the most superb bit of golfing ever exhibited by an American woman. Forced to play Mrs. Alexa Stirling Frazer, several times national champ, in the final round, Miss Collett uncorked a brand of golf that compared favorably with that of many male champions.

It is interesting, as one watches the girl champ play, to listen to the side chatter of the male members of the gallery. Although most of them do well to turn in an 85 or 90, they find many faults with her playing form and her technique—this while she is running up a better score than they ever hope to deliver at the clubhouse.

They fail to realize that 79 is great golf, whether a man or woman plays it—great when considered from the angle of the thousands who seek in vain to get such a score.

However, the side comment, if it does reach the champion, does not worry her. She has, among other attributes, the perfect poise needed in tourney play.

She plans to leave for England shortly after her last tourney in the south and in plenty of time to acclimate herself to conditions abroad. She will carry with her more experience, more confidence, greater poise, a better game—and KNOWLEDGE OF BRITISH TOURNAMENT PLAY GLEANED LAST SUMMER.

As she plays now there seems to be but one woman in the world capable of equalling her at her best—Joyce Wethered. And what a battle if they meet in the British tourney this year!

JOYCE WETHERED

NOTED JOCKEYS ARE SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, March 24.—That thoroughbred racing means to run its affairs under a minimum of sharp practice this year, was self-evident today, following the action of the Jockey club of New York in denying riding license to Clarence Kummer and L. M. Pator, nationally famous jockeys.

In addition to refusing licenses and reinstatements to several trainers. This action, following so closely the sensational clean up in Kentucky, left racing on a sounder foundation than at any time in recent years.

The Kummer incident, coming as a complete surprise, furnished a small sensation. He is one of the leading jockeys of the turf and has won more than $1,000,000 in purses and 439 races since 1918. He is under contract to J. F. and E. M. Byers, Pittsburgh.

Giants at Peak Form.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 24.—John McGraw declared today that his New York Giants were at the peak of their form for the impending championship race and gave most of the players a day off.

the latest, safest, best remedy made.

Go home—take steaming hot bath—open pores good per directions you find with each bottle of the liniment—then get the wife to apply it or rub it in good yourself. Then tumble into bed. You may have felt old, stiff, rheumatic, achy and lame but the warmth of that liniment in a few minutes will have you warm as toast with pains vanishing like the mist. Soon you'll be sound asleep and next morning you'll hop out of bed like a kid feeling younger and fit as a fiddle. Did you ever try it? Then don't say it can't be done. I've trained men for 42 years and I know even chronic old cases get relief in a few applications and most cases in a single night. Just ask your druggist for a bottle of "Mike Martin's Liniment," the kind used by the Professional Athletics. It comes in a bottle like other liniments but OH what a difference in results. SENIORS-JUNIORS NAB CLASS GAMES

Seniors, 41; Part Time School, 9.
Juniors, 21; Freshmen, 18.

These were the results of the second round yesterday of the interclass basketball tournaments.

The Seniors led from the start, rolling up 20 points in the first half to their opponents' four, and the rest of the tilt was similar to that of the earlier period.

The Freshmen Junior contest was a real basketball battle, both teams playing whirlwind ball all the way. The Juniors took the lead, 4 to 2, at the end of the first quarter, and increased the margin in the second period, the score being 12 to 5 at the half.

Trailing, 18 to 12, the Freshies played the Juniors off their feet, in the final period and instead of the game looking like an easy Junior victory, it became anybody's battle. The Freshies tried hard to overhaul their rivals but the nine-point lead that the Juniors gained in the first three periods was too much to overcome.

In yesterday's drawing for the tournament, the Sophomores drew a bye and they will play the winner of the Juniors-Seniors contest in the final.

Today's games will be between the Seniors and Juniors, while the Senior girls will clash with the Sophomores.

BOOKIES FINISH SEASON LOSERS

CHICAGO, March 24.—The latest racing expose in Kentucky had no echo here today when eleven bookmakers complained that they had quit losers at Hawthorne track last summer. A twelfth boasted that he had quit just before the "padlock poison" had been spread.

Their complaints were inspired by the action of the Kentucky Racing association and the New York Jockey club in barring several jockeys and trainers who were alleged to have thrown races. Each said he could name two or three miscreant jockeys at Hawthorne, but none was willing to go on record.

NET STAR WILL TOUR IN ITALY

CANNES, March 24.—Helen Wills leaves for Italy tomorrow, the final match in the Cannes Lawn Tennis club having been definitely cancelled. Miss Joan Ridley, of England, who was to have opposed Miss Wills in this match, has scratched, because of a severely bruised thumb, caught in an automobile door.

Miss Wills goes first to Florence, where she will remain five days, thence to Milan for two days, Rome for three days and Lake Como for one day. She will visit the art galleries in these cities and will play exhibition tennis matches, arranged by Baron De Morpurgo, the Italian star.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

CLAY WALES had no idea of where they would go if his mother should happen to be disagreeable about their staying there for a few days. He didn't think she would be, however. He imagined she would be rather glad to see him back. It was the first time he had been away from her so long since he was in the army. And even though at times they got along at sword's points, he knew that she loved him. He always won these little wars, anyway, as children usually do. And he loved her, after a filial fashion.

"I hope we won't inconvenience your mother," said Eve doubtfully as the taxicab neared the Wales bungalow.

"We won't. We won't be there but a few days, anyway."

"I wonder if ever a married young couple were so unprepared to live together! You'd think we HAD to get married!"

"Perhaps that is what other people do think," Clay remarked, half aloud.

Eve whirled around to look at him, flushing. He broke into a laugh.

"Clay! You don't think they DO?"

"Of course not, dear. I was just being funny."

His wife's frown did not disappear. "People MIGHT think that. We did get married in a rush. You never can tell what people are going to say."

"Ah! Let 'em think it is they want to. We don't care. That's as good a reason for getting married as any other, and better than the one most persons have. At least it's a reason."

Eve didn't understand what he was driving at with this remark, and did not reply. She still was worried. She knew how utterly foundationless such malicious gossip was. And there were girls like Mary Sullivan who would start just such a story.

The taxi stopped with a jerk in front of the destination. Clay thought he saw a figure get up and leave the window of the house. What if his mother looked the door on them? He was so taken up with this thought, five cents more than he intended to. The taxi thanks he got for the tip did not make him regret the mistake the less. He hated having to tip people.

The door opened as the rang. "Well!"

"Here we are, mother, dear."

"Well!"

Eve stepped forward to kiss her mother-in-law. Mrs. Wales submitted stiffly.

"We want to pile in on you for a few days, mother. Just a few days. We're going to look around today for a place to live in."

Eve regarded the elderly woman apprehensively. Mrs. Wales did not respond immediately. "I guess that will be all right. You'll have to wait though until I get the room in order I've been using it for sewing. . . ."

"I'll be glad to straighten it for you, Mrs. Wales. We aren't going to let you go to any trouble because of us. I hope we won't inconvenience you too much."

Mrs. Wales was not put at ease by Eve's suggestion. "No, I'd rather do it. You wouldn't know where to put things. You two first sit down; I won't take me but a minute." She bustled off upstairs.

"You see, she doesn't mind having us," Clay said, relieving himself.

Eve was not convinced. "We'll have a place of our own by Monday or Tuesday. . . . We mustn't let your mother go to any trouble to provide food for us. We can eat downtown."

"Yes."

Clay wanted to do that. His mother, to save herself work, did not observe many of the formalities which usually attend the serving of food. Usually she served her husband and son their meals in the kitchen, not bothering to lay the table in the dining-room. This practice always annoyed Clay but his offers to set the dining-table, and even to carry the food in there, had no effect. "You're always trying to make more work for me," she would complain, crossly. "Your father is satisfied to eat in the kitchen." On Sundays, however, dinner was always served in the dining-room.

Now, as Clay began to consider it, he was sorry that he had brought Eve here. His mother was not always as presentable in appearance as she happened to be this morning, and sometimes, when she was not feeling well, the house got in a rather disorderly shape. He didn't want his bride to know that he had been brought up in such surroundings. He was still trying to give Eve a better impression of him than she was likely to have if she saw things as they really were. It is always so on marriage.

"Where shall we look for a place?" Eve asked suddenly. "We'll have to take a furnished apartment at first, I suppose."

"Some real estate agency will have lots of places listed. And they'll take us around in an automobile to see them. That will be the easiest, I guess."

"Yes. . . . But we'll have to be able to tell them how much we want to pay."

"I don't know. I don't know what houses cost."

"Well, they say your rent shouldn't
